City begins plan for court building

By HENRY CANTIN

The Romulus City Council unanimously approved a resolution authorizing the Romulus Building Authority to proceed with preliminary plans to construct a proposed new court building to house the 34th District Court. The three member building authority received the go ahead signal at last week's council session. The preliminary plans will determine what kind of structure to erect and exactly what its construction would cost.

The proposed new courthouse would replace existing 34th District Court presently housed in a 60-year old Hale Elementary School, located at 30420 Eureka Rd., Romulus. The city spent more than $75,000 in converting the frame school house into a court facility. The converting of the school house was authorized to provide more office space. Court officials say that present court facilities are inadequate to meet the ever-increasing court work and existing court programs.

At last week's council session when the building authority received its approval to proceed with preliminary plans, considerable amount of discussing was held in the method of financing the new courthouse in view of the recent Michigan Supreme Court decision on the issue of general obligation bonds without the vote of the people. The building authority under present bond financing procedures would file an application with the Michigan Municipal Finance Commission for its approval to issue bonds to finance part of the courthouse's construction costs.

City Attorney Peter O'Rourke, in attendance at the council meeting explained one possible way to finance the construction of the proposed new court building. According to "very preliminary" plan the city council would award the construction contract for the $873,000 project to one of several contractors who would be willing to own the land and court building that would be built adjacent to the city's present municipal building, located at 11111 S. Wayne Rd. The City would buy the complex from the contractor on a land contract basis. When this occurs, the bank would buy the land contract from the builder and the city would mail monthly payments to the bank.

Under this "preliminary" plan, the contractor would build the project and the bank would collect interest. Upon final payment to the bank, the city would become owner of the building. City Attorney John E. Young emphasized that the financial arrangements are "very preliminary" and require a lot of legal research and work to determine whether the state supreme court would object to the plan if a suit was filed. Leo Kalota, secretary of the building authority and Harold Dubiski, chairman, said a bond issue of $640,000 would be required to finance the balance of the total construction cost. The total cost of the new court building would be reduced by $250,000 which is the sum that remains from the financing of the municipal complex's two initial structures - the municipal building and the public library. The 34th District Court serves the communities of Belleville, Romulus, and the townships of Huron, Sumpter and Van Buren.

Council approves subdivision plan

A final plat plans for the development of Applewoode Subdivision No. 2 in the City of Romulus received the approval of the Romulus City Council. At a previous council session, approval of the plat plans was denied for "lack of clarification as to the type of structures in the subdivision and the financing to be used." The request for plat plans' approval was made by Kaufman and Broad Homes Inc. of Southfield. Applewoode Subdivision is located in the vicinity of Middlebelt Road between Eureka and Pennsylvania Road. The proposed new subdivision is part of Kaufman and Broad's home development in Romulus. The firm has developed several adjacent subdivisions with 600 homes completed or under construction. More homes are being planned by the firm. At last week's council session the firm's attorney, Michael B. Lewiston, submitted a letter from John J. Tedesco, president of Kaufman and Broad stating that Kaufman and Broad "will not build housing financed under Section 235 of the National Housing Act" in the Applewoode Subdivision No. 2. Section 235 provides for federally subsidized housing for moderate and low income families. (Continued on Page 3)

Funeral services held for Romulus educator

Funeral services were held yesterday for Carl Renton, 45, a well-known educator in the Huron School District and the Wayne County school district. After services at St. Paul's Lutheran Church in New Boston, the body was buried in Michigan Memorial Park in Flat Rock. Death was attributed to a heart attack. The attack, had been preceded by one suffered in October. Associated with the Huron Schools and Huron Township affairs since 1949, he had served the schools as a teacher, principal and board member and was assistant superintendent of the Huron School District at the time of his death. Active in many capacities in educational circles, he was a consultant assigned as business manager to the Wayne County Intermediate School District for a number of years, and also was consultant for the Wayne County Tax Allocation Board for four years. He had served on the Huron Board of Education as president, secretary and trustee, and served on various planning committees to promote progressive growth for the district. Mr. Renton's activities included parent-teacher associations. He was instrumental in organizing the Hannan Road Parent-Teacher Organization and he also was affiliated with the Wayne County Parent-Teacher Association. Participating in the tree lighting program will be Mayor Hyle J. Carmichael, members of the Romulus City Council, administrative aides and residents of the community. Various choirs from area churches are also scheduled to participate in the program. On Saturday, Dec. 16, Santa will be at the city hall from 1 to 5 p.m., especially to hear children's Christmas requests. Santa will have a gift for each child who visits him. GOODFELLOW PAPER SALE — The annual Romulus Goodfellows newspaper sale will be held Friday and Saturday. Mayor Hyle J. Carmichael (in car) purchased a Goodfellow paper a little early from John Van Stipdonk (left)

Romulus Goodfellows set newspaper sale

The Goodfellows Association of Romulus will hold its annual Goodfellows newspaper sale drive on Friday and Saturday. More than 50 volunteers will become newsboys and will be on the main thoroughfares and intersections of the community during the two-day campaign to make sure that the Goodfellows' goal of "No Child Without a Christmas" becomes a reality. City officials, police and firemen, civic leaders and prominent profession and businessmen will be among the volunteers who will take to the major streets of the city in their drive to sell 2,000 copies of a special edition of the Romulus Roman. The Goodfellows will be selling papers at all local branch banks from noon to 8 p.m. Friday. On Saturday, the Goodfellows will be selling papers throughout the city from 1 a.m. until 4 p.m. John F. VonStipdonk, a member of the Romulus Jaycees, and chairman of this year's newspaper sale, and Fred Williams, president of the Goodfellows, jointly announced a 1972 Goodfellows goal of $2,000 an increase from the 1971 goal of $1,200. The 1972 goal is higher than last year due to an anticipated increase in the number of needy families. The Goodfellows last year assisted 100 needy families in the Romulus community compared to 150 needy families anticipated this year. Von Stipdonk, in urging community-wide support of the Goodfellows fund campaign, said "The greater the contributions by the good citizens of Romulus, the greater will be the coverage of needy families." Approximately 500 children from the Romulus area are in need of help in making their 1972 Christmas a merry one, he added. The Romulus Jaycees and members of the Romulus Kiwanis and Romulus Rotary Clubs will assist the Goodfellows in reaching their goal. Goodfellows recipients will receive food baskets and certificates for clothing. Children will receive toys. The dollar amount of assistance will be based on the number of children in the family, VonStipdonk said. The names of those who are aided by the Goodfellows are furnished by the Wayne County Welfare Department, administrators and counselors from both public and parochial schools and citizens. To questionnaire Residents respond If you earn about $13,000 per year, live in a $29,000 home and cast your ballot for Nixon, Griffin and Proposal F and couldn't make up your mind on Proposal B, then you're an average Western Wayne County resident who took the time to respond to our postelection questionnaire. Forty-six area residents - including four husbands and wives, who didn't necessarily agree - responded to our attempt to learn the motives behind the ballots cast Nov. 7 by residents. As expected, many of those who voted for President Nixon did so as a protest against Senator McGovern. Many preferred Governor Wallace. Several "no" votes were cast against proposals C (elimination of most school operations funding from property taxes) and D (removal of graduated income tax ban) because of a distrust of the state legislature. Proposal B (abortion reform), although it wound up in a 23-23 tie, was far from being an undecided issue for the respondents. It prompted more and longer answers than any other item on the questionnaire. Annual salaries of respondents having fulltime jobs ranged from $4,680 to $30,000, with most of them in the $11- $12,500 range. Estimated values of permanent homesteads ranged from $15,000 to $100,000. The second highest estimate was $40,000, with one mobile home valued at $12,000. (Continued on Page 10)

Romulus City Council ignores chamber parley

The Romulus-Metro International Airport Chamber of Commerce request of all members of the Romulus City Council to attend at a chamber board of directors meeting has been completely ignored.

Mrs. Dolores Ristow, executive secretary, director and chamber's liaison to the city council, reported that the invitation to attend the board's Dec. 11 meeting was mailed to the city council on Nov. 1. City Clerk Leonard J. Folmar introduced and read the letter to the council.

Members of council receiving the letter of invitation were Council President Jimmie Raspberry, Councilmen William M. Oakley, James C. Stewart, Brooker R. Edwards, Ellis T. Pennington and Fred Junior Block.

The letter read in part, "to join in an open discussion on various matters of mutual interest and concern," Mrs. Ristow said.

The letter also included a request that, "if you will call or call confirmation of your attendance not later than Dec. 1, arrangements for the meeting can be finalized."

The chamber office has not received an answer by mail or telephone from any of the council members.

Mayor Hyle J. Carmichael, City Clerk Folmar and City Treasurer Albert Glinski were on hand at the board's Oct. 9 meeting for a similar discussion between the chamber and the city's administration. The meeting proved to be "very enlightening and rewarding," said Mrs. Ristow.

The chamber directors immediately realized the effects of the improved understanding and relationship that came out of the mayor's meeting with the chamber, reported Mrs. Ristow.

According to Mrs. Ristow, the chamber directors thought it could serve its membership along with the entire Romulus community if the board of directors had the same type of communication with the city council.

Women allowed to wear wings for first time in naval history

For the first time in naval history, women will have the opportunity to wear wings.

duty officers or officer candidates.

Chief Petty Officer Robert Huffman, head of the Wayne naval recruiting station, said he "didn't know" whether girls with a yen to fly could enlist in the program in the near future.

Admiral Elmo R. Zumwalt Jr., chief of naval operations said that the pilot program was open to eight women presently serving as active

"I suppose it depends upon the outcome of this first program," he said.

Zumwalt said that physical and mental qualifications for women fliers would be essentially the same as those for men. But some adjustments in physical training may be made for women, he said.

The training will include basic flight instruction in propeller driven and helicopter aircraft. Women will not fly jets under this particular program Zumwalt said, nor will they receive combat training.

Boating course registration set

Untrained youngsters 12 through 15 years of age can take the first step toward "making the scene" on Michigan waterways by signing up for free pleasure boating courses to be held during the winter in Wayne County.

Wayne County Sheriff William Lucas said youth in this age group must successfully complete this course for beginning boaters before they can operate motorboats of six horsepower or more without adult supervision.

The accent is on training youngsters. Local boaters of all ages are welcome to attend the pleasure boating course which has been worked up by the Department of Natural Resources' Marine Safety Division.

Those interested in making their boating safer and more fun-filled next season may enroll at their local school. They also may join the course roster by calling Sgt. Fred Reiman, Wayne County Marine Division, 721-2222 ext. 70.

The first of three two-hour training sessions is scheduled for 12:45 p.m. Jan. 10 at Our Lady of Grace School, Dearborn Heights.

The training program will include, safety afloat, boat handling, Michigan watercraft regulations and first-aid.

Important pointers on selecting safe combinations of boats and motors also will be presented.

For area farmers

REAP to be developed

Following the announcement of the 1973 Rural Environmental Assistance Program (REAP), earlier this fall, plans are being made to develop the program for use by farmers in Michigan next year.

Art Rowley, chairman of the Michigan State Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation State Committee said the REAP meetings will be held in each county to develop the 1973 program.

Along with the 1973 program, investment plans are being developed as a basic guide to direct emphasis toward the conservation problems of greatest concern in each county.

The county development groups, with the assistance of the soil conservation service, county extension service and other local agencies, determine the priorities for conservation and pollution problems in the county and establish program priorities accordingly.

Major emphasis will be placed on long-term enduring conservation measures, including pollution abatement, permanent vegetative cover, and forestry practices. Practices will be included in the county REAP program that will most effectively meet the conservation needs for the county.

The county investment plan lists the basic conservation needs for cropland, vegetative cover, forest needs and pollution abatement needs. This material is reviewed and program priorities are established to best utilize program funds to combat these problems.

Program goals and objectives listed in the investment plans include methods to encourage farmers to participate in high priority practices, pooling agreements and special projects. Special provisions also are made for low income producers.

The state allocation, which is $3,033,000, is included in the investment plan with plans to spend 45 per cent of the funds for high priority practices, 25 per cent for medium priority practices, and 30 per cent for low priority practices. "Our goal is to assist farmers as much as possible, through the REAP program, in solving their pollution abatement and other agricultural conservation problems," Rowley said.

Atty. Gen. Kelley clears PCHA of charges

Michigan Atty. Gen. Frank J. Kelley has cleared the Peoples Community Hospital Authority (PCHA) of charges of "irregularities" pressed against the authority since the messy 1965 scandal which resulted in the discharge of then-PCHA Director Kenneth W. Gremore.

In a report of inquiry into PCHA presented to the board last night, Kelley wrote: "In contrast to the first investigation, the current inquiry revealed no misappropriation or conversion of authority funds, no conversion of public funds to private use, no breach of trust or official misconduct by authority personnel."

"I am personally pleased to present the attorney general's report to you (the board)," said present Board Chairman Donald J. Pizzimenti last night. "I am pleased the truth finally came out. PCHA is and has been operating as we knew it was."

Last year the attorney general's office intensified an on-going investigation into PCHA financial procedures, prompted by PCHA to "clear the record." The investigation was a continuation of the original investigation which began as a result of the 1965 scandal.

In the past, Gremore made no secret of the fact he was attempting to clear his name and regain his position. He had maintained all along that he did nothing in the old days that was wrong.

"The 'charges' leading to this inquiry were for the most part vague and unsubstantiated accusations," Kelley's report said. "The 'charges' appeared to constitute an effort, by sympathizers of a former regime, to harass the present regime.

"Newspaper accounts of frequent harassment and criticism of the present board, on file with the authority and with this office (attorney general), strongly suggest such a plan of harassment."

"The suggestion is reinforced by the failure of those who made the charges to substantiate them when afforded an opportunity to do so."

"PCHA, when confronted with the charges, reacted by requesting the state to investigate so that the record could be cleared, offered full access to authority records and personnel, promptly responded in full to all matters raised by the audit and complied with this office's requirements for revision of the expense policy and its application to all expenses, including those of the executive director and the individual hospitals."

Last year in March, a flurry of newspaper articles appeared in PCHA communities questioning the present operation of PCHA. A member of the legislature requested an informal review of an unsigned carbon copy of several typewritten pages designated "Report of Ken Gremore."

The city clerk of Ecorse forwarded a resolution to the attorney general on March 30, referring to alleged illegalities occurring in PCHA and requesting an investigation. In April, Kelley asked the treasurer of the State of Michigan to conduct an audit. His staff also asked Gremore and the City of Ecorse to substantiate their charges.

"But although numerous such requests were made, no response was forthcoming," according to Kelley.

The conclusion of the audit dealt with conflict contracts;

use of authority funds for wives of PCHA personnel traveling on authority business; budgeting and appropriation procedures; rules and regulations and transfer of assets.

The attorney general found that the City of Ecorse resolution referring to conflict of interest contracts dealing with emergency room service "though deplorable, was not legally in conflict of interest."

Kelley's report said the practice "has been eliminated at our (attorney general) suggestion."

The report stated that "no authority funds have been used for the private use of the wives of PCHA personnel." It also shows that officers and employees submitted expense accounts and made proper returns of unused advances.

The auditor has criticized the PCHA practice of adopting a budget without separate action appropriating the funds designated in the budget. PCHA has, at the suggestion of the treasury and the attorney general's staff, adopted the practice of including separate appropriating language.

"No separate act of appropriation, aside from the act of adopting the budget, is required, but is highly desirable and has been adopted by PCHA," Kelley's report states. "The PCHA board now has adequate control over operating expenses of each hospital. A 2-3 vote of all members present and voting (there being a quorum present) is sufficient to adopt a budget."

An Ingham County Circuit Court injunction requires adequate by-laws, rules and regulations, and provides that no by-laws, rule or regulation shall be enacted or amended at the meeting at which it is introduced."

The auditor reported to the attorney general that the rules and regulations have not been updated by PCHA since 1955, although in some respects "obsolete or superseded in practice."

"The final audit shows that there was no misappropriation or conversion of public funds for private use of PCHA personnel," the report continued. "PCHA has now adopted an expense policy which meets my (Kelley's) requirements and is now in compliance with the court order."

Smith gets Saline job

The Saline City Council has named State Rep. Roy Smith (R-Ypsilanti), defeated in his bid for re-election in the Nov. 7 general election, as the community's new city administrator. He will receive an annual salary of $16,500. Smith is a veteran Michigan legislator serving the 52nd

District, sought re-election to a new term in the new 22nd District. He was defeated by Gary M. Owen (D-Ypsilanti). The Saline City Council passed a resolution appointing Smith at a recent special council session.

Rep. Smith will replace Elwin Strait, who held the post for the last eight years. Strait resigned because he will undergo heart surgery this month.

The new 22nd district embraces the communities of Belleville, Van Buren Township, parts of Ypsilanti and Ypsilanti Township and Romulus.

Commission sets hearing

A public hearing on a proposed amendment to the township's zoning ordinance will be held at 8 tonight before the Van Buren Township Planning Commission.

The proposed amendment calls for the rezoning of a 20-acre land parcel for the construction of a proposed shopping center.

The rezoning request was filed by the Schostak Brothers

Co. Inc. of Southfield. The firm, developers of the multi-million dollar shopping center, seeks to rezone the land parcel from its present zoning C (commercial) to C-1 (general business).

The 20 acres are located on the South Service Drive of the I-94 Expressway at Rawsonville Road.

The plans for the proposed shopping development calls for a shopping complex with a total of 216,000 square feet, which would include 76,000 square feet for a variety of small retail stores. There will be parking spaces for 1,900 cars.

The proposed center will have a K-Mart and Chatham Supermarket, according to developers. A movie theater also is being planned for the center.

Records room to be built

The construction of a records room in the township garage adjacent to the township hall, 46425 Tyler Rd.

has been approved by the Van Buren Township Board of Trustees. The room will cost an estimated $700 and will be constructed on a platform structure in the interior of the one-story building.

The present records rooms in the township hall will be used for additional office space.

Township Supervisor G. Elton said the structure will probably be built of two thickness of drywall that will provide about one hour of protection in case of a fire.

The supervisor said it would be "too expensive to build a fire proof room."

Sumpter audit set

An audit of township books as of Nov. 20 has been authorized by the Sumpter Township Board of Trustees.

Newly-elected township treasurer Bertram J. Bradley requested the audit. He was supported by Trustee Noah Folks. The audit request was unanimously approved by the township board.

Voters of the township elected a new Democratic township board headed by Supervisor Robert D. Marble in the November general election. The board took office Nov. 20.

Traffic deaths are down

Michigan traffic deaths in November totaled 159, a decrease of 43 persons or 21 per cent when compared with 202 traffic deaths recorded in the same month last year, according to state police records.

State pay commission quit playing patsy

By DON HOENSHELL Daily Eagle Lansing Bureau Chief

Four years of legislative maneuvering to keep the nest well-feathered backfired into a decision to freeze the salaries of elected state officials for two years.

The 4-to-1 decision of the State Officers Compensation Commission (SOCC) evened things up.

It meant that the seven-member commission, first created in 1968 to take the heat off legislators, has stopped being a patsy for anybody.

The commissioners were irritated by Atty. Gen. Frank J. Kelley's ruling that they had jurisdiction over salaries and expense allowances only, leaving legislators to arrange their own fringes.

They were shocked by the public furor in 1970 when legislators were raised from $15,000 to $17,000, Supreme Court justices from $35,000 to $42,500, the governor from $40,000 to $45,000, and the lieutenant governor from $22,500 to $25,000.

So strong medicine was needed and strong medicine they got.

As they froze the salaries, the commission conceded that Kelley's opinion will enable legislators to tinker with the fringe benefits, but the cost will be subtracted from salaries in 1974.

There was an effort by Commissioner Ralph F. Huhtala of Kingsford to grant a four per cent raise, increasing legislators to $18,200 a year but it was voted down.

For a time it looked like Mrs. James W. Baker, a Bay City dress designer and wife of an attorney, would go along with Huhtala, but she signed on the majority side to freeze everything.

"I was the lone dissenter," Huhtala said. "I did attempt to give them a modest increase."

Votes to freeze the salaries were cast by Dr. Dwight E. Yoder, Methodist bishop of Michigan; Don F. Seyferth of Muskegon, president of Neway Equipment Co.; Jay Van Andel of Grand Rapids, board chairman of Amway Corp., and Mrs. Baker.

Williamston Industrialist William L. Brittain and Lawrence M. Carino, vice president and general manager of WJBK-TV, Detroit, did not participate in the decision.

The four-year terms on the commission held by Brittain, Carino and Huhtala expired Oct. 1, the day after the vote, and they will not be reappointed by Gov. William G. Milliken.

There was a feeling on the commission that it had gone too far too fast and had been considered benevolent dispensers of public money rather than judicious handlers of a serious problem.

The Supreme Court angered most of them by using tax money — the amount is still unknown — to hire a Michigan State University economist to build their case for higher salaries, $50,000 or more.

Legislators had been taking the public storm for years over their biennial attempts to raise their own pay. They had to find a way to transfer the flak to other shoulders.

They proposed putting a compensation commission in the state constitution at the August, 1968 primary election, when the voter turnout was light. The plan was approved 417,393 to 346,839 — by 70,554 votes.

It called for a seven-member commission to conduct hearings, make recommendations on salaries and submit them to the legislature. They would go into effect unless vetoed by a two-thirds vote of the legislature.

The theory was that two-thirds of the legislature would not vote against even an outrageous increase, no matter how indignant and righteous its critics might be.

Perfect.

The first raise for legislators was from $12,500 to $15,000 in 1969, the second was from $15,000 to $17,000 two years ago. Thus in three years, the commission had raised salaries $4,500.

It has been a long and fiery history. The main argument whether legislators are fulltime or parttime help has never been settled.

They received $3 a day until 1949 when the salary was raised by the voters to a flat $2,400 a year plus $500 for expenses. In 1953, it went to $2,900 and the expenses doubled to $1,000.

Salaries climbed to $4,000 and expenses were held at $1,000 in 1955. Then the lid came off in 1960 when voters approved letting legislators set their own salaries.

The next year, the legislature raised the salary to $5,000 and expenses to $1,250 plus mileage at 10 cents a mile for two trips back home each month.

They went to $10,000 a year in salary and $2,500 in expenses in 1965 as Democrats took over the legislature for the first time since the Great Depression.

Former Gov. George Romney and the Senate blocked a raise to $15,000 in 1966, but approved $12,500 after a special governor's commission recommended the full $15,000.

For its first three years of life, the commission looked like the custodian of a money tree.

In 1972, it has stopped being a patsy.

In our opinion

Survey respondents have told their side

Our readers — 46 of them, that is — have spoken out on why they voted the way they did four weeks ago in the November 7 election.

Many of their answers were along the lines of what had been obvious — no more taxes, distrust of our federal and state officials, a fear of cross-district busing, the Democrats need a better presidential candidate — but other responses were revealing in a somewhat different way.

Several persons indicated they did not understand some of the proposals. They most frequently indicated C, the proposal to remove most school operations funds from property tax, and D, the plan to remove the state's ban against a graduated income tax. We must apologize, as should the State of Michigan, because we thought much, much material had been printed to explain the two proposals.

Take the retired couple who felt the youngsters of today should receive better parental guidance, hence the young girls wouldn't need abortions and the county wouldn't need a new jail or juvenile facility. "Remember the strap," they said too.

Some of the respondents called for more strict judgments and faster action from the courts with one housewife asking for the death penalty to be used when needed.

A man who earned $10,000 a year opposed the graduated income tax issue by saying those making $25,000 shouldn't be penalized by earning more money. A man making $26,000 felt he should pay more proportionately than someone earning less than that amount.

Some persons looked at the graduated income tax as a means by which wealthier persons could find enough loopholes to put the burden on the middle income class.

Some said Attorney General Kelley was too much like Senator Hart, while others felt Senator Griffin was just another President Nixon stamp, creating one of the direct opposite viewpoints toward specific matters in the election.

Apparently Proposal B — abortion reform — lost due to the too liberal 20-week time limit, rather than the alleged religious aspect pinned on the issue.

The sorriest discovery was learning a couple of persons voted for county tax levies because they felt the two issues would be forced upon the citizens any way.

Another sad situation involves the great distrust indicated by votes cast for both sides of the presidential and senatorial races as "the lesser of two evils."

We hope our own legislators will take heed of this feeling and pass it along to their fellow elected officials. Their past performances in raising their own salaries and the citizens' taxes are coming home to roost, with almost all tax propositions going down to defeat regardless of their individual merits.

Probably the one response we liked best was from a teacher-housewife who asked us to run other questionnaires in the future. We definitely will.

Five meat firms join fight

Four Michigan meat packers and a fifth having plants located in the state are deservng of three big hurrahs.

They are Hygrade Food Products Corp. of Livonia, Farmer Peet Co. of Chesaning, Herrud & Co. of Grand Rapids, Pesche Sausage Co. of Detroit and Peter Eckrich & Sons Inc. of Ft. Wayne.

With Michigan's strict meat standards recently struck down in a federal appeals court, these five companies have promised to retain the same quality in their meat products — frankfurters, sausage and lunch meat — as was required previously.

In addition, they have signed a document to pursue efforts to have the U.S. Department of Agriculture raise federal standards for the meat products in question. Such action by the U.S.D.A. is possible by regulation.

Hygrade President Richard Berg said Monday that his firm will seek the endorsement and support of fellow members of the American Meat Institute.

The action by the five meat packers has come about as the result of the U.S. Court of Appeals in Cincinnati — acting on an appeal by three national meat packers, Hormel, Wilson and Armour — having ruled that less stringent federal meat statutes take precedence over Michigan law.

Unless the U.S. Supreme Court reverses the appeals court decision, Michigan residents will eventually find such tasty morsels as tongues, snouts, spleens, stomachs, udders, bladders, salivary glands, lips and hearts in their hot dogs, sausages and lunch meats.

Charley Brown, star of the Peanuts cartoon strip, once said, "A hot dog just doesn't taste right unless its in front of a ball game."

If Michigan's law is set aside by the U.S. Supreme Court and the five meat packers indicated previously can't get the federal standards upgraded, Charley's hot dog may not taste right any where.

'THE PRESIDENT'S SETTING UP A NEW BUREAU TO CUT DOWN ON BUREAUCRACY'

Speaking of schools

There's more to band than playing music

This musical organization offers a wide choice of the finest in wind and percussion literature and is continually expanding its repertoire with the finest symphonic wind literature from all publishers.

The symphony band strives to expose each member to the works of the great composers, both contemporary and traditional. Their daily rehearsals are guided by discipline, responsibility, poise, and confidence; all put together in order to reach their goal of a fine musical performance for the community.

Unfortunately, many of today's young people are denied the opportunity to live

By GREG HEUER
Band Director,
Belleville High School

in a refined and cultured environment, thus the majority of bandmen feel the Symphony Band is a uniquely glorious experience.

Because the bands are made up of students, so are their administrative staffs. The concert band council consists of a president, secretary, senior representative, junior representative, and sophomore representative, all elected by the bandmen.

The conductor of bands appoints an equipment manager and a head librarian.

The band council for the symphony band is made up of the president, vice-president, secretary, senior representative, junior representative, and sophomore representative. These, too, are chosen by their fellow bandmen.

The drum major, elected by the juniors and seniors at camp, also sits with the council. The rest of the council is made up of the conductor's personal staff. They are the equipment manager, the head librarian, and the business manager.

The band councils do their best to balance practice with pleasure. The pressure of the rehearsals and performances is relieved through council-sponsored social events.

One Wednesday evening last year the band decided to skip its regular two-hour rehearsal and have a pillow fight and pizza party. The fight was a success, but unfortunately the pizza wasn't. Somehow, they were covered with feathers from many a torn pillow!

Thanks to the many patrons that bought the candles they sold, the highlight of last year's activities was a well-deserved trip to Cedar Point.

Aside from these few major activities, there are the weekly band parties after the Friday night football games.

Perhaps the key to a smooth-running ensemble is to devise a method in which every factor works efficiently and effectively during both practice and performance. It is at this point when the emotional response from the music to person and from the person to the music is realized.

So there it is. From before the start of the school year to the last day, the Belleville High School bands provide opportunities galore for the young musicians to explore the gigantic world of music, develop their talents, and build long-time friendships on their way to becoming the men and women who will be the city of Belleville in a few years.

P.O. Box 'Drugs'

As a service to our readers, The Daily Eagle is printing this information from the Community Commission on Drug Abuse. Send all inquiries to the Commission, P.O. Box Drugs, Livonia, Michigan, 48151. Immediate information is now available in Westland by calling the Westland Aide Center at 522-3760.

Question: What are "Quads"...Can they hurt you?
M.A. Westland

Question: What is Quaalude? Is it a narcotic?
S.G. Redford

Question: Is Quaalude addicting? Can you get busted by the police for using it?
M.S. Livonia

These are a few of the dozens of questions we've been asked about what has become the "hottest" item in drug abuse in recent years. To simplify matters we're breaking down the information about this drug into our own Question and Answer session.

Question: What is it?
Answer: a prescription drug with the technical name "methaqualone". The most common trade name is Quaalude, from this comes the slang or street term "quads". It's also available under the trade names Sopor, Parest, Somnofac, Tuazol and Optimid. In Europe it's called Mandrax.

Question: what does Quaalude do?
Answer: in the most common doses (300 to 400 mg.) it's an hypnotic (Sleep-producing) drug. At lower doses (about half that) the drug is claimed to have tranquilizing properties.

Question: are Quads something new?
Answer: not really: the drug has been around for more than 15 years, but widespread abuse has developed only in the past year or so.

Question: how widespread is its use?
Answer: almost epidemic in the drug-abusing population. It's especially prevalent in the suburbs, where it is available already to kids at the junior high level.

Question: why, all of a sudden, has this drug become such a problem?

Answer: mostly because it's not covered by state or federal drug abuse laws, as are most of the other prescription sleeping preparations. Although Quads have an effect on the human body rather comparable to these other drugs, the penalty for illegal possession of Quads is no greater than for illegal possession of, let's say, penicillin.

Question: can this drug be more tightly controlled?
Answer: yes, Both the federal government and the State of Michigan have the right to class this classification.

Question: can this drug be habit forming?

Answer: almost without question it may cause psychological dependence. The physician's prescribing information states "...use caution with addiction - prone individuals or those who may increase dosage...". Some authorities state that it may cause addictions.

Question: what are the dangers of this drug?

Answer: the possibility of producing dependence or addiction is certainly a real and present danger. The primary danger is that this drug is capable - as are other depressants - of causing death by overdose. A search of the medical literature discloses the following effects of the drug (especially in high doses): headaches, loss of sensation, hangover, rapid heart beat, nausea, vomiting, diarrhea, gastric hemorrhage and convulsions. Not an innocuous drug, even in the hands of a physician.

Finally, treatment of overdoses of Quads is very difficult because the standard drugs used to treat overdoses of depressants may increase the possibility of Quad-induced convulsions.

Betz-Rohde are united at concelebrated mass

During a concelebrated mass November 11 at St. Aloysius Catholic Church in Romulus, Marguerite Rohde became the bride of Kevin Betz. They are the daughter and son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Rohde of 28109 Goddard Road, Romulus, and Mr. and Mrs. Lee Betz of 19031 Savage Road, Belleville.

Pastors from three churches took part in the four o'clock nuptial rite: the Rev. Joseph Kernosek of St. Aloysius; the Rev. Alexander Wytril from the bridegroom's parish, St. Stephen's of New Boston; and the Rev. James Fitzgerald from St. Joseph's in the Irish Hills. The later priest performed the marriage of the bridegroom's parents some 29 years ago.

For the double ring vows, the altar was appointed with bouquets of white snapdragons and mums with large white mums and satin bows marking the pews along the center aisle.

MUSIC FOR the wedding was furnished by Cornelius Wisniewski at the organ, Albert Larson on the violin and Mrs. Jack Trumble, who was soloist.

For her wedding day, Marguerite appeared in a gown of Chantilly lace designed with a high, square neckline, wristpoint sleeves, and a bouffant skirt fashioned on wide tiers of ruffles which cascaded into a cathedral-length train.

Chantilly lace appliques frosted the bride's silk illusion veil which was cut in mid-back length and held by a tall, double crown of pearls and iridescents.

Completing her ensemble was a cascade bouquet of white orchids, carnations and roses.

MRS. GRACE ROHDE of Romulus was her sister-in-law's honor attendant. Her toe-touching frock was styled with a velvet wineberry bodice and pink chiffon sleeves and skirt. She wore a matching velvet bow edged with a pink veil as a headdress and carried a white velvet muf covered with one dozen cascading American Beauty roses.

Sharon Rohde and Diane Rohde of Romulus and Tonette Smiegel of Wyandotte, all cousins of the bride; and Mary Beth Aniol of Treiton, served as attendants, the latter as a junior bridesmaid.

Their gowns were in rouge velvet and pink chiffon with matching accessories. Pink and red roses were used to accent their white muffs.

Six-year old Leslie Dennis, daughter of the John Dennis of Redford, served as flowergirl in a little dress of wineberry velvet and pink chiffon with a velvet bow in her hair. The nosegay she held was comprised of pink and red roses.

David Rohde, the bride's eight-year old brother, carried out the role of ringbearer. The lace-edged, heart-shaped pillow he carried was made by the bridegroom's grandmother, Mrs. Raymond Howenstein. Ring guards were Larry and Gary Rohde, the bride's four-year old twin brothers.

WILLIAM MADDICK of New Boston was asked to be best man. Groomsmen were Bruce Bullard of New Boston and Bob Parent of Belleville with Raymond Betz, the bridegroom's brother, serving in a junior capacity. Church ushers were Tony Rohde, Charles Rohde, Jr. and Kellen Betz, brothers of the bridal pair.

The Romulus Progressive Club was reserved for the reception which followed. Mrs. Rohde greeted guests in an American Beauty colored formal gown and silver accessories while the bridegroom's mother chose to wear a pale blue lace gown with matching accessories. Both mothers were presented with white orchid wrist corsages.

Among the 400 attending the festivities were the bridegroom's grandparents who flew in from Florida for the occasion: Leo Betz of Tavares and Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Howenstein of Clearwater; as well as the bride's grandfather, Joseph Rohde of Dearborn, formerly of Romulus.

The newlyweds spent a week's honeymoon in Washington, D.C. before proceeding onto their new apartment at 124 Sterling in Norfolk, Virginia. The bridegroom, a Huron High graduate, just returned from an eight-month tour of duty in Vietnam and is now stationed with the U.S. Navy at Norfolk.

The new Mrs. Betz was graduated from Romulus High School.

Romulus couple mark 50th year

Mr. and Mrs. Grover Todd of 16679 Huron River Drive, Romulus, celebrated their golden wedding anniversary with relatives at the home of a nephew and niece, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Todd of Newport. The festivities took place on Thanksgiving Day and that day 50 years ago was also the national holiday.

Grover Todd of New Boston took Margaret Messerschmidt of Detroit as his bride on November 20, 1922. The pair have lived in Romulus for the past 20 years and prior to their retirement, raised acres of gladiolus.

Mr. Todd, who will be 80 in March, still enjoys a small plot of gladiolus in the summer months. A former employee of the Chrysler Corporation, he retired from its accounting department in 1957.

Mr. Todd is a member of the Huron Senior Citizens Club. For the happy event, Mr. Todd presented his wife with white and gold corsage and she, in turn pinned a similar boutonniere to his lapel.

A tiered wedding cake, made especially for the party, was decorated in gold lace, roses, and leaves. Among the many gifts the couple received was a money tree.

• ALMOST EVERY WOMAN we know... has a yen to become a "Playgirl", now that Dressup Time is fast approaching! We tell them to call PLAYGIRL FIGURE SALONS, for the secret of a svelte look... and the fun of youth and vitality one inherits automatically, along with the new, firm figure. Playgirl helps them to create! If you're near Dearborn Heights, call 545-2077. In Farmington, it's 477-2211; Madison Heights, 545-8600; Ann Arbor, 971-2180. Wherever you are, you see, you're near a PLAYGIRL FIGURE SALON!! Coming out of the lovely new Rose Garden Restaurant, in Dearborn Heights last Sunday... we met a Reader standing in front of Playgirl Figure Salon, which is right next door! "How do I get in?" she asked. "Come back tomorrow!" we answered. True, they're closed on Sunday... but then, that's the day you'll be wanting to show off your newfound beauty... after you've been there any weekday for as long as you want to stay! Your Membership includes unlimited use of all facilities, you see... so that you can spend the entire day, if you wish, Monday through Friday! And that's just ONE of the nice things about Playgirl! Call the one nearest you, and they'll tell you how to get there... to find out more! (Or call me at 261-0076, for a FREE Pass!)

• A N-D WHEN WE MENTION Christmas... and looking good, we just automatically remember Minerva's Dinnings, the people who make that "Playgirl Look" complete! Color and the Season share their floor just now... with the loveliest, GIFTIEST things in the Christmas World waiting as eagerly for your arrival... as you yourself once did, for St. Nick! We sometimes get the feeling they read minds... because Minerva's Buyers make certain they ALWAYS have just exactly what you're looking for! More than this, they sometimes know what we're looking for before we do! Honestly! We see it, and say, "Ah, THAT'S just what I wanted!" In this case, all you have to do is bring your Gift List, for the best selection of Women's and Children's Gift Items and Holiday Garb around! In particular, visit their Lingerie Dept., where soft, silky things are lavishly banded with wide laces; trimmed with Ribbons; styled to enhance. Even for the Gal with "enough" Slips... there's always that other color! For the Small Fry - the "Wearables". For the Jet Set - the nonchalant swagger of the "Danceables". For Y-O-U, when you're covering the home scene (and whether you're Gifting Or Getting) - Robes as perky and welcome as fresh-brewed Coffee, to help you follow your Holiday Schedule "pretty" closely! Follow it right to: MINERVA'S DINNINGS, at 500 Forest, in Plymouth, for easy Xmas Shopping!

• DID SOMEONE SAY G-I-F-T-S? Then they might also have said AMBASSADOR FLOWER & GIFT SHOP, Located at 7342 Middlebelt, just n. of Warren (at the edge of Westland), one has to watch carefully the first time they seek it out, because the "single" Store-front is a fooler! Inside, you'll find 11 ROOMS of wonderful things to choose from... and you'll remember where the "Ambassador" is for evermore! There are Musical Boutiques... Clocks by the roomful, a Stationery Room... one room full of Bar Accessories, some humorous - some elegant... you'll find a Card Room... a Bridal Room, complete with everything but the Bride and Groom! (In this one, you just come inside and learn what makes an unforgettable Wedding; see things you never imagined; know that this is the TOTAL Bridal Service). A Jewelry Room... not one, but TWO Candle Rooms... a room devoted to Accent Lighting (unusual Lamps)... another is the Anniversary Room... and still another is the Religious Room. In addition to this, the time taken to give personal attention to each and every individual is in itself an almost-forgotten "Gift" from the people at the Shop that's been waiting to serve you at Christmastime! (It's one of those places you'll always come back to!)

• THEN THERE'S THE GIFT SUPREME... the "Extravagant One" you've always wished you could thrill someone with... but never knew how easily you could afford it! The life-size Statue... the fabulous Bas-relief... the knee-high winged Cupid... the lovely, religious Rebecca... half a hundred others in every size, shape and theme your imagination can conjure up! STATUES, now... and hardly the "what not" variety! These are steel reinforced, of lifetime-plus quality. Cement for outdoor Statues; plaster models for inside the Home. You may want to own or give them for an Office... to grace the exterior of a Building... to stand in a special place in front of your Hearth... for an indoor Fountain (these are connected to delivery)... or anywhere where the tremendous "finishing touch" completes a setting. Price is never a subject of conversation in this column, knowing our Readers are aware that "It costs no more to have the very best". This time, however, we feel we must let you know that the same works we've seen both locally... and in crates, hauled home from Europe, at prices of $300.00 plus... can be had for one sixth of that! In fact, prices at STATUE VILLAGE, 32720 Northwestern, near 14 Mi. Rd., in Farmington, start at $2.00! Call 626-4724, to find out when you can watch these Beauties being made... they MAY be working on yours!

• THE BIBLICAL REBECCA brings to mind a place where the Lord fills every corner; glorifies every thought and offering. If you've not yet been to DICKSON'S OF LIVONIA, at 33493 W. 7 Mi. Rd., (across from the new K-Mart) then you are missing the most complete selection of Religious Gift Items... anywhere in this entire area! While everything at Dickson's Bible and Book Store is important to everyday life, of course... we sometimes overlook the greatest Gift possibilities of all, by relegating such things to strictly Family or Church-related needs. To give a Gift of The Holy Bible, for instance, must surely be the Christmas Gift that explains the meaning of this time. And there is infinitely more to choose from: Religious Games and Story Books, Puzzles, Narratives, Learning Aids, Records, Tapes, even Sheet Music. FULL lines of Religious Statuary, Art, and fine Jewelry. There are many other items, also! Special Scripture Stamps, Albums, legends. There are wonderful Posters, many in the "IN" language youngsters understand so well. There are things for the Teacher, the Worker, the Faithful seeking deeper knowledge. There are gifts for giving... and HIS great treasures, for keeping. You'll enjoy seeing them all, Thur. & Fri. 10 till 9; other days from 10 till 6.

• JUST A COUPLE DOORS DOWN... is a person who knows where your OWN World begins... and can help you to make it so happy and beautiful! Ben Wenson at B & L CARPET CO., 33483 W. 7 Mi. Rd., just W. of Farmington Rd., has a whole bagful of Home-related Christmas Ideas working for you! A SALE, "The Carpet Sale of the Season" to make your Home happy, bright and Holiday wonderful, at the prices that never before came along JUST when you wanted them! You can make Carpeting buys there right now, that have never been possible before! And WHAT can you get that costs less than FREE? Visit Ben Wenson for free Folders on exciting Decorator Ideas that take little time, cost little money, and brighten your Home... and your Lifestyle considerably! Wallpaper... leftovers! the free Christmas miracle in no time at all! Then there's the free Wallpapering Guide for people who hate how-to-do-it Guides (or how to make your Home beautiful without hardly trying!) Need some washing instructions for flock Wallcoverings? C/MON OVER! You see, you don't have to buy Carpeting just because you come in. It's simply a nice place to visit! We do it all the time! If you come to Dickson's... stop at B & L... and vice-versa!

• AND THERE'S A PLACE you "visit"... where you definitely DO buy! You wouldn't be foolish enough NOT to, of course, when you see the prices at Danny's Markets! The prices, according to our mail, aren't the only things you're lucky to find... 24 hours a day! Mrs. Donna Butler, who felt "lucky" in the middle of the night, picked up her State Lottery Ticket and WON! She's feeling lucky again... and talking about $10,000.00 "or so". "What'll you do with it?" we asked her by phone. "Well," said our nice Reader... "I'll spend a BIG chunk of it at Danny's Markets... and that way I'll save even more!" "Just a minute," we shouted, "who's the Writer around here?"... and were off to Danny's, to buy our own Tickets! But you're a Winner every time, when you can forget about closing time... high prices... inferior brands... poor service. The people who call us at 261-0076 for money saving Coupons "win" savings almost immediately, since we pass their names directly on to the Mailing Service. Last week, they bought such Holiday needs as Gold Medal Flour and Sealtest... Velvet Ice Cream at whopping Discounts, and this week the Coupons are good for Northern Tissue and Miracle Whip Salad Dressing! 1,000's of other items are also discounted, every day! DANNY'S FOODS are at 30221 Cherry Hill... 3031 S. Telegraph... and 25433 Warren, waiting for Winning Homemakers... 24 Hours a Day!

• IF WE'VE SAVED THE BEST for last... it's because we want you to remember it the longest! There is a very specific place to find that look which is the total You... Not the place you wander casually in and out of. People come there, for the MOST important Holiday Garment in their entire Wardrobe, because whether this is the ONE big time... or whether you will return frequently... you'll never be disappointed with FUR DESIGN & COUTURE BY INGE & MILLIE, at 25321 Five Mi. Rd., in Redford. Each Garment is adapted personally to you... be this a fine Fur or a wonderful Gown, and it becomes yours alone! It expresses YOU, forever. Rich Materials... Knits and Glitter... MR. AND MRS. DAVID E. BECK

Beck-Turnage exchange vows in candlelight

In a candlelight ceremony at the First Presbyterian Church of Farmington, Barbara Ellen Turnage of Taylor and David Earl Beck of Romulus exchanged nuptial vows and wedding bands.

The Rev. Homer Nye officiated the double ring rite which united the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul Turnage of Dearborn and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Roland Beck of Farmington.

Musical selections chosen for the wedding included "Sunrise, Sunset", "We've Only Just Begun", "Theme from Love Story", and "The Wedding Song."

For her wedding day, Barbara appeared in a gown of polyester crepe designed with a modified empire bodice, toe-touching sheath skirt, wrist-length sleeves, and a high neckline. Appliques of lace accented the neck and cuffs and formed two vertical lines for a panel-effect on the skirt.

Matching lace trimmed the headress which secured the bride's elbow-length veil. Completing her bridal finery was a bouquet of white roses and carnations.

AS HER SISTER'S matron of honor, Shirley Montroy donned a soft brown empire mode frock with white lace trim. Her bouquet was comprised of bronze daisies and yellow mums.

Daniel Styes served as best man and ushers were James Pospeshil and Paul Turnage, the bride's brother.

At the reception for 85 guests at the Goddard Court Apartments clubhouse in Taylor, the bride's mother greeted guests in a gown of turquoise chiffon. For her son's wedding, Mrs. Beck chose a yellow polyester design. Both mothers added accessories to match as well as harmonizing corsages.

The new Mrs. Beck was graduated from Edsel Ford High School in Dearborn and attended Henry Ford Community College. She is currently with Albert's in the Village Plaza, Dearborn, in the capacity of sportswear manager.

Her husband, an alumnus of Farmington High School, attended Oakland University and is employed as production manager for Associated Newspapers in Wayne.

Hooray for hamburger

The most popular of all foods served in America is the hamburger, according to a recent survey by Institutions-Volume Feeding Management magazine. Scoring an 87 percent popularity rating, the burger was reported top seller by food service operators.

A THOUGHT TO REMEMBER

BY HAROLD REDISKE, DIRECTOR

Christmas, the cheerful time of the year will soon be here. Gay greetings, sharing of good food, gift giving and cordial smiles will, as always, bring joy and good feelings. As usual, indecision and problems face people in gift choosing. The problem is worsened by the increasing competition for the giver's dollar.

In gift giving, and most of it is generous indeed, a sad situation exists. The church, the embodiment of the man whose birthday plans. Churches of all denominations are way down on the list, if indeed they are there at all, as recipients for Christmas gifts... Yet, as most church minded people will confirm, all churches need gifts of talent, time and money far more urgently than most individuals.

The money spent by people on people entails a gift problem. The pittance given to God shows a spiritual problem. Don't you think we should face the spiritual problem along with the gift problem at Christmas?

All Around The Town

...with Lee

London, Paris, Beirut on agenda

BACK IN TOWN after a recent two-months sojourn abroad are Henriette Metcalf and her two daughters, Denise and Sheila, of Harris Road. Jetting across the Atlantic, their first stop was London where they spent a week with friends from Henriette's teen-age years, Mrs. Parik Stephens and Mrs. Mabel Finn, and their families. They took in as many famous sites as the week would allow before winging to Paris.

In the French capitol, Henriette was reunited with her brother, Alfred Natale, for the first time in 24 years, also meeting his wife, Vivianne, and their two daughters, Christian and Patricia. And there were 10 days to be spent doing the city with its many beautiful and historical spots.

Then the trio was off for Beirut, Lebanon to see Mrs. M.'s mother, Mrs. Louise Natale, and a sister and husband, Mirielle, and Frank Forage, and their 23-year old son, Frank Jr. While visiting there for a month, the group enjoyed seeing the ruins of Balback and the Casino Du Liban in Tripoli. The Metcalf sisters especially enjoyed being able to swim every day during their October stay.

What had been an exciting, long-awaited trip for the Bellevillites ended on rather a heart-breaking note when, 12 days after their return to the States, they received word of Mrs. Natale's sudden and unexpected death. In excellent health when they departed, Mrs. Natale suffered a fatal stroke at the age of 76.

Former Belleville couple honored

FORMER RESIDENTS of Belleville, Mr. and Mrs. Carl Gotts of Largo, Florida, were the honored guests at a recent open house marking their 63rd wedding anniversary. The celebration, hosted by their son and daughter-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred Gotts of Safety Harbor, included a buffet served to some 30 guests from the area and from as far away as Belleville and Wyandotte, Michigan and Youngstown, Ohio.

The Gottses, both 83 years old, were married at the First Methodist Church in Wyandotte. They have wintered in the Sunshine State since 1926 and when Mr. Gotts retired from the Van Buren Township Schools, where he had been active in many capacities, they settled in Largo.

It's a boy for Baldwins

THERE'S A NEW addition to the Baldwin family tree these early winter days. Picking the first of December for his birthday, little Talon John Baldwin put in his initial appearance at St. Joseph Mercy Hospital, Ann Arbor.

Stopping the baby scales at an even seven pounds, he is the first child of Bob and Suzanne Baldwin of 9745 Geddes Road, Ypsilanti, and the third grandchild of the Manley Baldwins of Ryznar Drive, Belleville.

The new mother is the former Suzanne Metcalf, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Earl Metcalf of Ypsilanti.

Curriers enjoy Hawaiian sojourn

A CARD RECEIVED from Honolulu, Hawaii informed us that the Curriers — Bill and Lillian — were living it up in the nation's 50th state. The couple are enjoying their 'off-season' (he operates Currier's Marina on Belleville Lake) by taking in all the sites in the Islands — volcanoes, beaches, pineapple and sugar plantations, and, no doubt, Hawaii's night life.

Randall Edward is newest Kieft

FROM ROCKFORD, Michigan comes word of the arrival of a new son for Mr. and Mrs. Laird Kieft of 3233 13 Mile Road. The infant, whose weight was recorded at 8 lbs. - 8 oz., put in an appearance at St. Mary's Hospital in Grand Rapids, and was titled Randall Edward.

The couple's second child, he is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Dolencic of Romulus and Mr. and Mrs. Edward Kieft of Grand Haven. Mrs. Kieft is the former Bonnie Dolencic.

A 1,000-pound live steer yields only about 432 pounds of saleable beef at the meat counter. The remaining 568 pounds consists of about 385 pounds of offal, which is removed by the packer in dressing out the 615 pound carcass, and another 183 pounds of undesired fat and bone trimmed from the carcass before it reaches the meat counter in the form of retail-ready cuts.

Post-game warm-ups

To lose weight

Reduce fat intake to cut those calories

Whether you want to lose weight or maintain your present poundage, fats are a good place to begin cutting down.

Fats and oils are an extremely concentrated source of calories, says Anita Dean, foods and nutrition specialist at Michigan State University.

She emphasizes cutting down rather than cutting out. Fats provide certain necessary nutrients that should not be omitted from the diet entirely. But they also provide more than twice the calories per ounce available from either proteins or carbohydrates — 255 per ounce for fat, 115 per ounce for each of the others.

That makes fat intake a good area to reduce, she suggests.

"Much of the increase in fat consumption has resulted because people eat out more," Mrs. Dean says. "And where do we eat? At drive-in restaurants. And what do we eat? Fried hamburgers, deep-fried chicken and shrimp, fish and chips, french fries, chocolate shakes. Do you think french fries aren't greasy? Try eating them cold sometime."

Cooking fats are hidden sources of fat in our diet, Mrs. Dean explains. Take potato chips, for instance. Ten, two-inch potato chips provide 115 calories. Only 44 of these are native to the potato — the other 71 come from the oil the chips are fried in.

Peanuts are even worse, she points out. Of the 90 calories in 15 roasted peanuts, 72 are provided by the oil in which the nuts are roasted.

More obvious is the fat on a pork chop that raises the calorie value of a medium thick pork chop from 110 to 245.

It takes 3,500 calories beyond those the body requires to produce one pound of body fat, Mrs. Dean says. Consequently you must reduce your usual calorie intake by 3,500 to shed a pound.

Since weight lost quickly is likely to come back just as fast, Mrs. Dean recommends a gradual reducing plan based on cutting down, not cutting out, certain foods and being aware of the hidden fats that pile the calories on.

Try cutting down on margarine and butter, she advises. Each pat provides 70-80 calories. Dropping from four pats to three every day won't instantly transform your figure, but over a year's time the calories you did not eat will amount to five pounds. Eliminate one slice of bread a day also, and the difference will be six pounds, for a total of 11 pounds lost with a minimum of suffering and mental anguish.

She strongly recommends using cooking methods that do not add fat to the diet. Roast, broil, bake or grill meat rather than frying or sauteing it, she says. And whenever possible, use low-calorie substitutes in cooking; low-fat dry skim milk rather than whole milk, for instance, yogurt for sour cream or lean ground chuck for fatty hamburger.

Most important, Mrs. Dean emphasizes, whenever you are shopping or meal planning, keep in mind the nutritional requirements of a balanced diet. Do not try to eliminate all fats. For one thing, she says, you can't do it. But you may try, and in so doing, rob yourself of necessary nutrients.

Be sensible, she suggests: do not cut yourself off from your favorite foods — simply eat less of them or eat them less often. And try to find a less fattening way to prepare them.

Shopping, cooking and eating to reduce the intake of unnecessary fat can become a healthy habit, Mrs. Dean says, that will contribute to the well-being of every member of your family.

Snacking in style

A recent survey of eating habits of U.S. families showed snacking has become a way of life. It follows if this is the preferred style of eating, as opposed to "three square meals a day," snack items should be nutritious. Miniature Meat Balls will fill a variety of snack needs. Combine 1 pound ground beef with 1 teaspoon salt and 1/4 teaspoon pepper.

Shape into balls using 1 tablespoon for each ball.

Place in shallow baking dish and bake at 325 degrees F. for 15 to 20 minutes. For fun eating, insert a pretzel stick into each ball and serve with catsup or cocktail sauce.

Township board denies rezoning

A rezoning request filed by the Freeway Development Co. of Southfield for the construction of a proposed multiple dwelling complex in

Van Buren Township has been denied by the township board. The firm sought a change in the zoning classification of a 26-acre parcel of land, located on Huron River Drive, east of Haggerty Road from its present single family to multiple dwelling zoning.

A motion to support the township planning commission's previous rejection of the rezoning petition was made by Trustee Dominick W. Blend. He was supported by Township Clerk Mrs. Pat Cullin.

The board unanimously approved the motion. The firm's representative, Mark Schlusel, a Detroit attorney, told the board that the company proposed to construct 276 units - 84 townhouses and 192 apartments - or 11 dwelling units per acre.

The rezoning petition was denied because of traffic problems in the area and also because of the effect of the proposed multiple dwelling complex on school enrollments according to the township board.

Township picks legal counsel

Phil Rice of the Detroit law firm of Dickenson, Wright, McKean and Cudlip has been appointed township attorney by the Van Buren Township board.

The new legal counsel named to handle the township's legal affairs on a trail basis replaces Thornton Hopson of the Detroit law firm of Berry, Hopson, Francis and Mack. Hopson has been the township attorney since 1962.

The change in law firms and fee arrangements will bring about a saving of several thousand dollars annually, according to Supervisor E. Elton Gollwitzer.

The township had been paying an annual retainer fee of $13,500 for Hopson's services plus additional charges for court work and legal expenses.

Rice's firm will charge the township $40 an hour plus expenses for representing the township. The firm also represents Grosse Pointe Farms and the Bloomfield Hills School District.

Gollwitzer said the same amount of legal services that township had received last year for the $13,500 retainer would have been only $3,500 on a fee basis.

The supervisor added that he expects the legal expenses will be greater than $3,500 this year because a complete study and review of 60 township ordinances will be undertaken.

Gifts needed

The Van Buren Convalescent Center, 44401 Willow Run Expressway, is in need of small gifts which will be given patients at their Christmas party.

Persons who wish to contribute gifts can do so at the First United Methodist Church office, 455 High St., Belleville.

Chamber president picks head

Programs recently requested by the directors of the Romulus-Metro International Airport Chamber of Commerce have been instituted by the chamber's newly elected president Richard C. Enright who also announced several committee appointments.

Douglas Baum of Baum's Funeral Home in Romulus, a member of the chamber's board of directors, has been appointed to head a by-laws committee.

Chamber members appointed to assist Baum were Ron Makino of the Equitable Life Insurance, Ray Elwart of the Romulus Chiropractic Clinic and Barney McCrane of the Wyandotte Welding Supply Co. This committee will review and make reconstruction proposals of the chamber's charter by-laws.

Mrs. Dolores Ristow, executive secretary, board director and public relations officer said some of the chamber's existing by-laws do not fit in with current ideas and aspirations of the present board of directors "nor do they allow for the rapid pace the board of directors desire." Baum and Makino are members of the original committee that drafted the by-laws of the chamber's charter.

Enright also appointed the chamber's second vice-president Ed Galazka, manager of the Middlebelt Airport branch of the National Bank of Detroit, to be chairman of the 1972-73 planned meetings committee.

Galazka will have as committee members Dave Ferguson of the Metro Clinic and Frederick W. Craddock of the Hilton Inn in Romulus. This committee has been assigned the duties of drawing up guidelines for meetings scheduled by the chamber.

Mrs. Ristow said that these appointments are in keeping with the chamber's new resolution of involving all its members in the functions of the chamber, its activities and programs.

The two committees have been instructed to bring their proposed ideas and recommendations before the board of directors for final check and approval.

Mrs. Ristow also said Enright has contacted Frohman Johnson of the Michigan Chamber of Commerce in Lansing and plans to meet with Johnson in Lansing this week to discuss ways and means to strengthen the Romulus Chamber.

Another committee soon will be appointed to study the businesses in Romulus who are not members of the chamber and set up approach patterns suitable to the individual business types for later use in chamber membership campaigns.

Hayti PTA hears about teaching aids

Mrs. Beth Brooks, a Helping Aid teacher at Hayti Elementary School in Romulus, detailed various learning disabilities and methods used to correct them at a recent meeting of the Hayti PTA.

Such teaching aids as toys, puzzles and machines were on display at the meeting.

Mrs. Brooks' talk provided an insight into problems most of the parents did not know even existed. A test on memory preception also was given to some of the adults in the audience.

The PTA announced that a freezer is to be purchased for the school's hot lunch program. The holiday candle and holder was won by Mrs. Marge Falls. It was donated by Mrs. Carolyn Kuhn and Mrs. Nancy Flood.

Mrs. Barbara Harrison, membership chairman, reported membership of the school's PTA has topped the 200 mark.

46 residents respond to election questionnaire

Following is an item by item rundown of some of the responses, with salaries and homestead values indicated by (S) and (H) respectively and numbers reduced decimals of 1,000. For example, a $17,500 salary will be shown as S-17.5 and a $35,000 homestead as H-35.

PRESIDENT

Nixon 33, McGovern 12)

Nixon capable. I am against amnesty and couldn't stomach the thought of McGovern and his street-freaks in command. (S-9.9; H-17. Secretary)

Nixon. We are sick of radicals. We voted Democratic all our lives, but not this time. (S-10; H-35. Machinist)

Nixon. ... lesser of two evils. Would rather have seen Wallace in running. (S-13.5; H-25.30. Electrical engineer)

Nixon. ... lesser of two evils. (S-12; H-25. Construction electrician - hard hat)

Nixon. I dislike King Richard's arrogance and deceit, yet McGovern talked nonsense. He is boorish, inept, ignorant. (S-8; H-100. Retired)

Nixon ... doing good job no one else could. McGovern couldn't make up his mind and told each group what it wanted to hear. (S-10; H-25. Tool repairman)

Nixon. Excellent record - Voted Humphrey four years ago in contrast to McGovern's wild foreign policy and wilder economics. (S-26; H-30. Trained educational professional)

Nixon. ... better man ... really trying to end war promptly ... for neighborhood schools ... not everyone should get welfare without doing some labor for it. S-24; H-25. General foreman, nurse's aide)

Nixon. McGovern radical, liar, bull thrower, clean mind - he changed it every five minutes. Best president was Coolidge. (S-15; H-30. Electrician)

Nixon. Democrats had their four years to stop war. Why beef about Nixon? (retired)

Nixon ... worked consistently in directions he said he would ... is poker player enough not to be outsmarted by Communists. McGovern seemed wild dreamer. (H-20,000. Substitute teacher)

Nixon. I hate any person who supports busing. (S-12; H-17. Final inspector)

McGovern ... has many stupid ideas, but is more honest than Nixon. I almost did not vote for president. (S-30; H-40. Builder-Realtor)

McGovern. Nixon has shown that he is against working man, for big business. Although McGovern has many weaknesses, he was lesser of two evils. (S-20; H-30. Teacher)

McGovern ... honest, trustworthy, dependable. Even with overwhelming percentages, he displayed courage of convictions. Nixon underestimates intelligence of electorate. (S-18; H-39. Management analyst)

McGovern. Under Nixon, our family would be better off on welfare. Nixon has done such a fine job of controlling wages, yet cost of living - food, housing - has not been controlled. Middle class carries heavy tax burden. Instead of finding ways to desegregate schools, he made big issue of busing ... country needs good, stable leadership. (S-11 by husband; H-17. Housewife)

McGovern. Did not like either candidate, but voted for McGovern because he couldn't win. (H-30. Homemaker)

McGovern ... only possibility in years of reordering priorities of country. (S-11.5; H-25. Religious education director)

McGovern. I will never trust Nixon no matter what he does. I would not even buy a new car from him, let alone a used one. (S-11; H-rent. Hospital attendant)

Neither. Nixon would not plug loopholes. McGovern had too many sex and dope perverts backing him. (S-12; H-15. Salesman)

U.S. SENATOR

(Griffin 31, Kelley 15)

Griffin. ... respected, of proven quality. Busing issue was sham. Senate seniority is valuable, not obtained by electing "pretty" man when good man already there. (S-15; H-35. Regional manager)

Griffin. For his stand on busing. (H-40. Housewife)

Griffin. Kelley is controlled by AFL-CIO, cannot vote as an independent. (S-30; H-40. Builder-Realtor)

Griffin. Kelley is bigger liar. (S-12; H-30. Sales representative)

Griffin. Kelley is too much for unions. (S-10; H-25. Tool repairman)

Griffin. Against Kelley with all his dirty politics and malicious mouth. (S-10; H-35)

Griffin. ... record speaks for itself; his fight against busing school children; pension legislation to protect working man. (S-24; H-25. General foreman-nurses aide)

Griffin. ... best for Michigan. (S-12; H-23. Programmer's housewife)

Griffin. ... leader, man of action, against school busing, for insurance for pension, repealed car tax, etc. Yes, he went to school with my son and daughter, also I saw, talked to him when he worked for Wolf's Drugs in Folker Building. (S-15; H-30. Electrician)

Griffin. ... by default. (H-20. Substitute teacher)

Griffin. ... was toss-up since both are against busing. (S-12; H-17. Final inspector)

Griffin. Balance from state is good. One Democrat, one Republican. (S-15; H-35. Manager)

Griffin. Kelley too much like Hart. Who needs him? ($4.68; H-15. Key punch operator)

Griffin. ... stable, dependable. Kelley ... a vacillator, poor attorney general. (S-9.9; H-17. Secretary)

Griffin. We need Kelley for our next governor. Griffin is doing good job in Washington now. (S-12; H-15. Salesman)

Kelley. ... articulate attorney general. Griffin supports Nixon over and above call of duty. (S-20; H-30. Teacher)

Kelley. Only in opposition to weak U.S. senator. (S-18.5 by husband; H-35. Housewife)

Kelley. Griffin's say-so on surtax meant nothing without support of majority of two houses. If he is that great, why not use influence on revenue sharing, war, rising prices, etc? (S-18; H-39. Management analyst)

Kelley. Griffin too reactionary. (S-12.85; H-27. Teacher)

Kelley. ... tired of hearing Griffin talk about busing. (S-11 by husband; H-17. Housewife)

Kelley. Griffin was only another Nixon and one is too much. (S-11.5; H-25. Religious education director)

Kelley. I never liked Griffin after passage of Landrum-Griffin bill. (S-10; H-22.9. Trucker, crossing guard)

Yes. We should be in tune with rest of country. Yes. Voted "no" last time, but now I am homeowner and can use extra daylight.

No. If people want to get up an hour earlier and do their thing, fine. I have enough trouble getting to work by 9 a.m.

No. Everyone who voted "yes" should take a drive at 4:30 a.m. to see how many people have to go to work at that hour.

Yes. Flip a coin. "Yes" won. (S-12; H-25. Construction electrician-hard hat)

PROPOSAL B

(Abortion reform: Yes 23; No 23)

Yes. No one is forcing anyone to have one. I wouldn't want a teen daughter of mine, if pregnant, to give birth after several difficult deliveries of mine.

Yes. Although abortion on demand seems too extreme, there are many instances it is essential.

Yes. ... too many unwanted non-adopted children the state is supporting with my money too.

Yes. ... the woman's right to decide if she wants to be pregnant, not some man in court.

No. ... bill much too broad ... should have voted on original Bursley-McCauley one which never got out of committee.

No. If boys and girls behaved, we would not need abortion. How about sterilization? My dad and mom never heard of the word.

No. Murder is murder. Why not aid people with problem pregnancies, counseling, financing, adoption?

No. Twenty weeks is too long. Yes. Women should have right to choose. Anti-abortion campaign was exaggerated, repulsive and contained many untruths.

Yes. I am Catholic. Man not prevented by law from having an operation. Woman should have same rights as a man.

No. No way could a Christian be for abortion. It's a God given right that everyone have the right to live.

No. Too liberal. Father should be asked. No. ... fetus is alive.

Yes. A woman's body is a matter for her, her doctor and her religious beliefs.

No. Abortion for any reason under certain conditions is mass murder and abortion with reason as rape, retardation, deformation is form of mercy killing but it's understandable ... offer pills on request to any woman from 13-108 years of age.

Yes. All those against do not care after the baby is born. Yes. I would not want any part of an abortion, but that's my decision. Under current laws, people on the other side of issue can not exercise their decision. (S-20; H-40)

No. ... would be abuse and not used just for life and death matters.

Yes. Religious morality has no place in state law.

No. ... with pill, you shouldn't have gotten pregnant in first place.

No. When people can legislate death to one portion of population, they can do it against any portion.

No. Decided "yes" before entering voting booth, but voted "no" once inside.

No. Why drag the morals of country any lower? ... give out pills.

No. Murder of the unborn is too high price for sanctioned promiscuity in age of pill.

No. I had a baby of 22 weeks that lived 36 hours. Today it could have survived.

Yes. Anything that affects a personal life of a person or family should be decided by persons involved.

EDITOR'S NOTE - We included a disproportionate number of "no" answers because most "yes" respondents said the same thing, "It's the mother's right to determine how she uses her body."

PROPOSAL C

(Elimination of most property tax in support of school operations: Yes 17, No 29)

Yes. ... more just system. (S-11.5; H-25. Religious education director)

Yes. Everyone shares equally. (S-15; H-35. Manager)

Yes. ... not fair for those in Detroit to pay less than those in Wayne, for example. (S-12; H-12. Teacher)

Yes. School property taxes are out of sight. (S-18.5 by husband; H-35. Housewife)

No. ... poorly drawn; raised both taxes and innumerable questions. (S-26; H-30. Trained educational professional)

No. Income tax with option of voting on possible increases would be fine. (S-15; H-25. Salesman)

No. ... were hoodwinked. (S-10; H-35)

No. Busing possibility, lack of local control, educational parks being considered. Taxes will probably be higher in total. (S-12 by husband; H-25. Housewife)

Yes. Western Wayne schools need more reliance on state support. (S-12.85; H-27. Teacher)

No. ... not clear. How would it affect big business and tax free properties? (S-14; H-40. Service manager)

PROPOSAL D

(Removal of income tax ban: Yes 16, No 30)

Yes. Should operate same as federal income tax. (S-5.5. Navy)

No. ... rider on present income tax which legislature can remove and a flat rate is given. (S-4.68; H-15. Key punch operator)

Yes. Those who make more should pay more. (S-12; H-12. Teacher)

No. With our legislature, it would be taxes unlimited. Then higher salaries for themselves - their first concern. (S-9.9; H-17. Secretary)

No. Would it be to my advantage or the state's? (S-19.46; H-20. Forge press operator, billing clerk)

No. No reason in particular. (S-13.5; H-25.30. Electrical engineer)

No. Government does not need more money. It needs more economy and honesty. (S-8; H-100. Retired)

No. Can't trust Lansing. (S-30; H-40. Builder-Realtor)

No. Graduated income tax smacks of socialist views; take from one to equal all. (S-10; H-25. Tool repairman)

No. The state would like to control school systems, but thank God they won't get the opportunity for a while. (works with retarded children)

Yes. I make more than $25,000 and should pay more proportionately. (S-26; H-30. Trained educational professional)

No. ... would be satisfactory if controlled by our vote. (S-15; H-25. Salesman)

No. ... led into believing lottery would help our schools. Why should we believe anything anymore? (S-10; H-35)

No. ... takes incentive from people. (S-13; H-27. Sales manager)

No. I'd be in group carrying heaviest part of tax. (S-18; H-39. Management analyst)

No. ... sky would be the limit. (S-24; H-25. General foreman, nurse's aide)

No. I reject concept that flat rate tax is regressive. Graduated tax is unfair to everyone. (S-12 by husband; H-25. Housewife)

No. Upper income bracket would still find a loophole and it would be middle class again. (S-14; H-40. Service manager)

Yes. ... would help lower income people and those on Social Security own their own homes. (S-11; H-17. Housewife)

Yes. Rich not taxed enough. (S-11.066; H-25. Counselor)

Yes. Renters will share equally. (S-11; H-rent. Hospital attendant)

PROPOSAL E

(Vietnam veterans' bonus: Yes 19, No 26)

No. We are overtaxed and state is broke.

No. Veterans may attend school through GI bill, buy home, etc. Why more?

No. Give them jobs instead.

No. Have too many people living off government now.

No. I'm against all deficit spending; also want younger men to know there will be no more rewards for wars.

No. Interest would be so high that veterans themselves would be paying it for years in taxes.

Yes. ... so little honor for Vietnam veteran.

No. ... should give Conscientious Objectors who give another form of service to the country.

Yes. ... should be more done.

EDITOR'S NOTE - Again we have an overabundance of one sided answers. Almost all "yes" respondents said it was only right since they risked their lives for us at home. Most other "no" answers cited the federal government for the responsibility of any bonuses.

PROPOSAL F

(Tax levy for new county jail: Yes 23, No 22)

Yes. ... also need judges to imprison criminals.

No. ... they have it OK now.

No. Detroit abuses jail. Friend spent three days in DeHoCo for $10 unpaid ticket in Detroit. Two of three hijackers were free on rape charges. Suburbs pick up tab of jail.

Yes. ... insure fast, accurate justice.

Yes. ... would prefer to see latest methods of prison reform instituted as California is attempting.

No. For most of these jailbirds, we need concentration camps, not luxury jails.

No. If they gave death penalty to people who deserve it, they would not need a new jail.

Yes. We need it and will have it, vote or no vote.

No. ... keep some of people out of jail by getting hearing sooner. We just renovated old jail.

No. If they can't live decent life - do right - let them suffer.

No. ... use municipal bonds.

Yes. I wish everyone had chance to see old jail as I have from nearby.

No. Don't want jail built out here.

No. No more blanket approvals. What would be cost, location, effect on taxpayer?

No. They already have money. What's the problem?

Hell no. What are the facts? Let the judges work 40-hour weeks or, like factories do, work them overtime.

No. Let parents take better care of their children and remember the strap.

No. We need it. Cut out pork barreling, large salaries and save money for it.

No. Let Detroit pay for it. They want us to support their schools. Let them pay for something.

Yes. Even criminals deserve humane conditions. Not everyone there is guilty.

No. Don't want it near us.

Yes. Step in right direction to our problem.

EDITOR'S NOTE - Most other "yes" answers indicated dire need for new facility, while other "no" respondents didn't want more taxes.

PROPOSAL G

(Tax levy for new county juvenile facility: Yes 19, No 25)

No. Raise good kids and keep good company.

No. Let Detroit pay for it.

Yes. Why keep delaying it?

No. We would have two facilities, one in Detroit that is black and one in Westland that would be white. Concept of juvenile homes in Wayne County is detention, not rehabilitation.

Yes. No use in making hardened criminals out of young people because they are not ours.

No. Would be located in this area.

No. Let people like Hart and Kennedy, who have the money, donate some. It's deductible for them by loopholes.

Yes. Step in right direction.

No. Let parents and teachers do their jobs and we won't need it.

Yes. Kids are kids and society must help them with problems, be they legal, psychological or physical.

No. There is too much waste in government.

No. Judges are so lenient with juvenile criminals that the facility would probably be empty.

No. Money could be used to counsel parents and children.

No. Use municipal bonds.

Yes. Keep children safe.

No. ... money would go for county employe facilities instead of direct juvenile facilities.

No. Make parents of juveniles pay for it. I know where my kids are.

No. Add one, maybe two judges to empty juvenile home.

EDITOR'S NOTE - Again, most other "yes" answers cited the poor condition of the old facilities while the other "no" comments referred to a refusal of any more taxes.

IMPROVE YOUR HOME

Design child's room with the child in mind

By VIVIAN BROWN
AP Feature Writer

In winter, good handyman projects might include those that provide children with rooms relating to their childhood enthusiasms. Blackboard walls, built-ins to accommodate their height, and safe furniture that can be used for play are among the ideas that might get children out of their room rut.

Two industrial designers, Jerry Wood and Harry Farnlett, have engineered many children's products with their partner, Anthony Barsanti. They point out that "too many healthy children are penned up in rooms that are little sterile palaces — planned to please adult members of the family." In addition, often the rooms are unsafe — cribs collapse; drawers pull out on feet, cubes have sharp edges. "A child's room should be his world, designed with that in mind," observes Wood. "He should be able to jump on his bed and it should be close to the floor — a foot and a half or so — and he will not get hurt if he falls. He should be able to scribble on walls and let off steam with a little hammer."

Most children live with the "no-no" routine, the designers say, with parents monitoring the activity to protect their investment in furnishings and the appearance of the room.

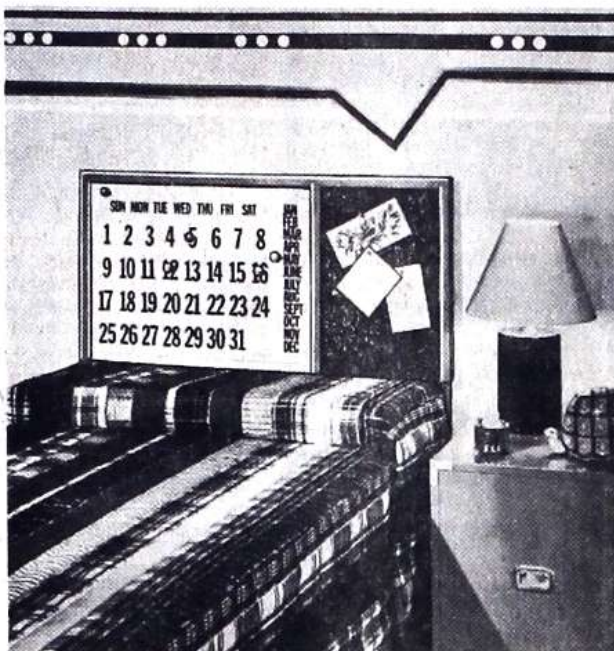

The design team is not developing the kind of children's furniture they envision, they say, mainly because "manufacturers are hung up by buyers who think French Provincial and Colonial." Parents may like it, but children couldn't care less what period their rooms are done in. They just want a place where it's fun to live.

"A child is going to play in his room anyway, so why not accommodate him with furnishings that encourage it? A blackboard area for scribbling, a bench for banging with tools, a jumping area near the floor, are important considerations. And a good reading lamp behind the bed will make him comfortable when he reads."

Wise parents will let their children place the furniture in the room, this design team suggests. He'll shove it around anyway, so why not let him decide where he wants it?

Children's furniture is outmoded in their opinion, as well as being unsafe. Why should it be necessary for a child to climb up on something to reach a bureau drawer? If he doesn't fall down and pull the drawer with him or crush his finger in the drawer, he will certainly mess up the contents of the drawer groping for what he wants.

In trying to find proper con-

CHILD'S ROOM — A headboard just for him or her incorporates all the features anyone under 15 likes best. First, there's a perpetual calendar with magnetic "bugs" to mark the date or hold special notes to the board. Then, there's a cork bulletin board for pinning on pictures or reminders. The headboard gives a bedroom that longed for personal touch and is perfect for a child's room.

cepts for a new kind of furniture, the two designers do a lot of daydreaming aloud.

"Bureaus should be built so drawers swing out," comments Wood. "And closets should be built with shelves at a child's height," observes Farnlett.

He also thinks children's furniture "could look like sculpture, free-form and rounded without dangerous corners, with a seat and table as part of a unit. And kids love to turn things upside down, so 'furniture' could be useful on both sides. And in between maybe there could be a tunnel through which he could crawl."

Their experience in designing thousands of toys, including sit and ride toys, has equipped them with a good deal of knowledge about colors children like. Red, white and blue are favorites, they say, but a decorator color such as lime is popular in little cars.

More could be done with plastics in children's furnishings.

Tooling might be expensive initially, they admit, but new ideas in well-designed furniture could become mass-market items that would bring prices down. Intelligent design could make the furniture appealing, safe and functional, they explain.

Most parents guide children at play, they comment, but they seldom think of guiding them in their little rooms. In making the child's life easier in the proper setting, the parents will be happier, too.

By ANDY LANG

Use pliers to loosen the hex nut on a faucet stem and you're almost certain to damage the chrome or polish surface of the fixture.

That mistake using pliers for the loosening or tightening of nuts — is repeated again and again in households everywhere. Pliers are for holding, wrenches for turning.

The most versatile of the wrenches used around the home is the adjustable, so named because the jaws can be adjusted to fit any size nut with the capacity of the particular tool. Its one disadvantage is that its head is sometimes too large to manipulate properly in close quarters.

An open-end wrench has a nonadjustable opening to fit a nut of a definite size, which means that you need an assortment of them so that you can match the wrench to the job. Most opened wrenches have openings at both ends, each of a different size. When one end of the wrench has an open end and the other has a so-called boxed end, a circular opening to grip the nut, the wrench is known as a combination. When the circular openings are on both ends, you have a box wrench. A box wrench holds a nut more securely, is not likely to slip no matter how much pressure is applied and sometimes can be used in cramped quarters where an open-end wrench cannot be fully turned.

Socket wrenches have ends like box wrenches and usually come in sets, with different sizes of detachable sockets and handles. They are especially handy for working around automobiles and other kinds of mechanized vehicles.

Pipe wrenches are just that: wrenches for gripping and turning pipes. Like pliers, they will cause damage to nuts, bolts and polished fixtures.

There literally are hundreds of other kinds of wrenches, each for a specific purpose. Probably the most important point in the use of a wrench is to be certain that it fits tightly on whatever it is to turn. If it is too loose, it will round the corners of the nut. Even more important, it may slip and cause physical injury to the user.

A wrench should be pulled, not pushed. If necessary, turn the wrench over after each turn of the nut or bolt. It will take longer, but it will prevent slippage and, in the case of adjustable and pipe wrenches, it will not put undue strain on the adjustable jaws.

Here's the Answer

By ANDY LANG

Q — There is a small leak around the flashing at one of the vents in our roof. The flashing seems to be in good condition, but the leak nevertheless is there. How can it be repaired?

A — Here are a number of ways to patch what appears to be a pinhole opening. One is to spread roofing cement over the area. Spread it generously to be certain that the opening, wherever it may be, is completely filled. Another method is to use a patching kit that consists of a fiber-glass material compound. The material is spread over the suspected area, then covered with the compound.

Q — There is a leak at one point along one of the gutters on our house. How can it be halted?

A — The above answer regarding flashing. You can use either roofing cement or the fiber-glass material match. There are many other products that also will do the job, including various kinds of cements, plastics steels and metal patches.

Q — I have always used spackling compound to make repairs in a plaster wall. A painter who did some work for us recently said he uses only plaster of paris. Is there a difference?

A — There's a difference in composition, but from your own standpoint, they accomplish the same thing. Plaster of paris dries much more quickly, so that only enough should be mixed to cover a small surface. Some painters get good results by making a 50-50 mixture of plaster of paris and spackling compound.

Apartment dwellers need insurance too

By The Associated Press

Apartment dwellers, like home owners, have some assets which should be protected. What's more, you could find yourself liable for injuries suffered by a visitor on your premises. Yet, too often apartment residents just buy car and life insurance.

But apartment living is every bit as risky as living in a house, and there are a lot of insurance questions a renter should consider before writing off insurance as too expensive or not worthwhile.

The tenant's package policy covers your personal property against fire, windstorm, hail, vandalism, theft, riot, or civil commotion, and so on up to a total value you set for its worth. It also covers your property against "outside" theft up to 10 per cent of the face value of the policy. Also included is a reasonable amount of personal liability coverage, usually $25,000.

Costs for this kind of insurance run about $35 to $50 per year for the $5,000 coverage anywhere in the country, except major metropolitan areas like New York City, Detroit, Chicago and Los Angeles, where costs will be higher—if you can get a policy at all.

If you feel you want more protection, you can cover your property against almost any kind of loss with a personal property floater.

Usually valuable possessions—jewelry, furs, antiques, works of art, expensive sound or camera equipment—should be insured on a personal articles floater. This policy, which can be added to a tenant's package or used alone, covers scheduled property (your treasures listed individually with their value) at a much lower rate than the all-risk policy, though it also covers all risk with the same exclusions, and carries no deductible.

But even in a big-city core, if your apartment has an ever vigilant doorman or a stay-at-home spouse to scare thieves off, you may qualify for a regular tenant's package. If not, you're a candidate for the tenant's combination policy. It's essentially identical to the full package but burglary losses are covered only up to $1,000 even if your contents are insured for $10,000 against other perils. Costs for this kind of coverage are high.

Some people can't get insurance. Whatever the reason your application is turned down, you can turn to your local Fair Plan. It is essentially a pool of companies writing casualty insurance who take turns handling high risk policies. Coverage through Fair Plans automatically costs more and they only handle fire, vandalism and extended cover (most other perils, in other words, except theft).

Other courts of last resort are the federal government, for theft insurance—usually administered through your state insurance department—and the "excess markets" like Lloyd's of London.

Make safety basic factor in home

Most people remodel their homes for beauty, convenience and extra space.

But, to be sure you enjoy your attractive, comfortable home, it's wise to consider safety factors as well.

There are certain basic precautions that should be "built" into every home.

Doorways should be located where they can be quickly reached in emergencies. Patio doors should have safety glass.

Wiring and electrical outlets should never be overloaded. Stairways should have strong railings. Roofing materials should be fire-resistant.

Roofs are especially vulnerable to fire threats. For one thing, their large area is exposed to flying fire brands from chimneys and outdoor fires.

If a roof should burn, it quickly endangers the entire house — and the people in it. The best protection is afforded by fire-resistant roofing such as heavyweight asphalt shingles.

Asphalt shingles get their fire-resistant quality from rock-like mineral granules embedded in the shingles. These ceramic-coated granules also give asphalt shingles their color.

About Santa Claus

Area resident writes book for children

By JIM CARRAVALLAH

Santa Claus in purple? Dare anyone violate the Christmas tradition of the Jolly Red Elf? Beverly Scott, a former resident of Romulus dares in her first children's book entitled "Santa's New Suit."

In 19 pages with color pictures and catchy verse, Mrs. Scott develops a story about what happens to Santa and the people he visits on Christmas shortly after the jolly elf loses a purple dye ball in his suit pocket.

The story is written for children from kindergarten age to third grade to make several points about life. According to Mrs. Scott, the book "develops adaptability to change early in the child's life. Within a framework of tradition and security an accident befalls Santa's suit. The reactions to the accident are tenderly human resulting in Santa having a choice of suits to wear each Christmas hereafter."

Mrs. Scott, who lives in Arizona with a teen-aged daughter, began work on her book in late August and completed preparations for publication by the beginning of November. The hurry-up schedule was dictated by the reason behind writing the book, to finance a model day care center in the Texas and Arizona area.

According to Mrs. Scott: "I saw many needs for children which could not be filled due to the structure of the machinery of government."

Her idea was to develop a non-profit day care center which would supplement a lack in the two states' educational systems.

Mrs. Scott's goal is to build a day care center to show families that it is possible to establish non-profit corporation which would design a program to enhance child development in the child's formative years.

The author has background in education extending over 20 years. She graduated from the University of Michigan in 1951 with a bachelor's degree in elementary and secondary education. The three and a half years following her work at U-M, Mrs. Scott taught first grade at the Howard Elementary School in Dearborn.

She continued teaching in Germany, where she worked with children at military bases, and went to Texas to teach both youngsters and high school students.

In 1971, Mrs. Scott earned a master of special education degree from Eastern Michigan University. She holds membership in Zeta Phi Eta, national honorary fraternity for women in the communication arts.

She also is a member of the Arizona Kindergarten Teachers Association.

Until August of this year, Mrs. Scott has worked in the Office of Manpower Planning of Arizona administering a $1.3 million grant under the Emergency Employment Act. She also worked as a consultant for the Arizona State Department of Education.

She resigned in mid-August to develop a project involving day care and elementary education in Arizona and Texas, two states which do not provide pre-school or kindergarten grade level education for children.

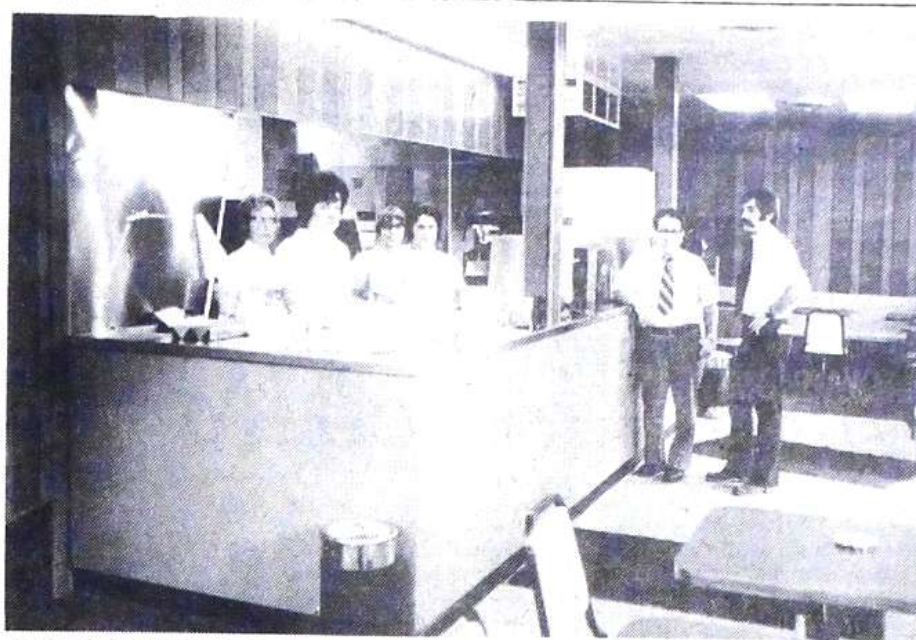

She is attempting to establish her own day care center prior to the time the Congress approves a $1.2 billion day care center appropriation.

"The model must be up and in operation before federal legislation is passed so parents have time to see the model and take necessary steps to establish one for their children," she explained.

Cost of the book, which contains illustrations by Judy Sutphen is $1.50.

Copies are on sale at the Town and Country Pharmacy in Wayne, Ted's IGA in Romulus, the Book Nook in Garden City and the Marvill Book Store in Westland Center.

Mail order copies are available by sending a $1.50 money order and 25 cents postage to "Santa's New Suit," Box 366, Romulus 48174.

Township absorbs water rate increase

Water rate increases from the Detroit Water Department to Van Buren Township water customers will be absorbed by the township's water department.

The Van Buren Township board of Trustees' action was a concurrence of a recommendation made earlier by the Van Buren Township Water and Sewer Commission.

Township Supervisor G. Elton Gollwitzer, said the water rate boost would amount to $10,040 in additional water costs which is based on the last 12 months water department operation.

An increase in the number of township water customers has enabled the township to assume the water rate increase that became effective this year.

Romulus

Yearbook sale set

BY ADDELL AUSTIN

The Romulus Senior High Eagle Yearbook will be on sale until Friday and from Jan. 15 to 19 for $5.25.

The sophomore class is selling chimes and candles for Christmas. Any tenth grader who wishes to sell must be free of any owed money from the class from past sales.

There will be a chess tournament, open to all students, sponsored by the chess club. Details about the games will be announced later through the school bulletin. The last day for applications for the senior class talent show, 360 Degrees of Soul, will be Dec. 18.

Belleville

Band sets 'Winter Lace'

By TOM KETCHUM

Dec. 9 is the day. That evening, the Belleville High School Bands will present their concert, "Winter Lace." Featured will be the Concert Band, Symphony Band, and Marching Band. It promises to be a great evening for music. It will include the "world premiere" of "Introduction and Rondo Capriccioso."

Members of the music department have a busy month planned. Besides their respective concerts, they will journey to Ann Arbor to see Gilbert and Sullivan's "The Gondoliers" on Dec. 13 and go caroling on Dec. 17.

The BHS Choir gets into the swing of things with their concert on Dec. 17. Mrs. Pitcher will conduct the ensemble. You'll won't want to miss this "great" show. You can be sure to hear some of your old favorites. Yes, Virginia, the auditorium is alive with music.

A "tipperoo" of the hat to the Debate Team, who under the guidance of Mr. White, have managed to capture 34 trophies. They have a 75 percent win average, and are second place in one of the toughest leagues in the state.

They have placed first in various tournaments that contain 50 schools across the state. This year's team has the best record of teams for the past six years. Now you know why Mr. White and his crew are so sleepy.

Mr. Preston's physics classes can admit they don't understand without giving out individual identities.

His advanced physics class devised an electronic system that tell him how many students are confused about the class lecture. Each student has at his desk a push button which is wired to a meter. The more the needle drops, the more students that fail to understand. This gives Mr. Preston an idea of just how much he should repeat.

"What ever happened to Barb Repella?" said Jane. "She went away last Thanksgiving," said Dick. "Don't worry. She'll be back adorning the pages of the Belleville Enterprise next week," said Tom. (Now when can I pull that trick on her?)

Huron

Chieftain costs $5

By SUE MAIANI

Anyone interested in purchasing a copy of the 1973 Chieftain yearbook may do so by sending a check for $5 to the high school. Make checks payable to Huron High Yearbook.

The charity drive started by John Hampson is nearing its goal of $1,000. More than $580 has been collected.

All donations given to this drive will be turned over to the muscular dystrophy program. When a goal of $1,000 is reached, Mr. Hampson said he would shave off his beard and mustache in front of the whole student body at an assembly.

Under the direction of Mrs. Julianne Cook, the Future Homemakers of America Club is really on the go this year to help needy people.

A sudden change has hit the students of HHS. All club meetings must be held on the first Wednesday of every month. The meetings may be scheduled between the hours of 8:30 a.m. and 2:20 p.m.

The maximum time allowed for any meeting is 30 minutes. The only exceptions made are for student council and full class meetings.

YOUNG SCIENTISTS AT WORK — Bert Smith (left) and Kevin Kring, students at the Romulus Special Education Center, work on exhibits they recently entered in a science class program. Bert made a homemade

We thought you'd like to know.

It's no secret. The people that really stay jolly and merry during the holiday hustle and bustle are the people who plan ahead. Like the people that open WSB Christmas Club accounts.

It's such a painless way to save. You make small, regular payments into your Christmas Club account all year long. Then, in November, Christmas Club savers get a check in the mail from WSB. Somehow, it's always a little bit of a surprise. A check for so much money when it was so little effort to save. With money in hand and no January bills to face, you can really have a merry Christmas.

Open a 1973 Wyandotte Savings Bank Christmas Club account today. You can open your account at any of the WSB offices throughout the area. You'll be in good company. Very jolly company.

JOHN PRESTON

McCauley seeks help for anti-busing measure

The two Michigan legislators responsible for a state passed resolution calling for a federal constitutional ban on forced busing have pledged that they will take their fight to the legislative leadership conference in Miami this week.

Senator John E. McCauley (D-Wyandotte) and Senator John T. Bowman (D-Roseville) pointed out that five states have passed the resolution, the first in the nation calling for a constitutional convention to be confined to the forced busing issue.

The resolutions were modeled after one introduced by Sen. Bowman and co-sponsored by Sen. McCauley, whose 11th District includes Sumpter Township.

The measure passed both Michigan houses in October, 1971.

Bowman, who was recently named vice-chairman of a national committee directed toward accomplishing a federal constitutional amendment, said that it was obvious that the national congress would not act to put an end to what he called "the efforts of a willful few to defeat the will of the majority."

Senators Bowman and McCauley, who gathered more than 100,000 signatures on an anti-forced busing amendment petition in their districts in 1971, added that they believed that the time has passed when positive action must be taken.

"The diversion of educational funds to counter-productive busing is fast approaching a national scandal," McCauley said. "No concerned citizen objects to educational opportunity, but forced busing merely deepens the frightening divisions that currently exist in our society."

Bowman, long a foe of forced busing, added that "the isolation of national congressmen makes it plain that the only solution to the forced busing problem is in the hands of concerned state legislators who have the power to band together to require the convening of a constitutional convention."

Both senators said they will be in Miami to contact every state legislative leader, encouraging them to pass the Michigan model resolution.

"We expect to have support from the necessary 38 states for our resolution by the time the meeting ends," Bowman and McCauley declared.

Tigers host champs next

Belleville rocks Ypsi, 61-44

Al Gates has waited four years for a night like the one he enjoyed last Friday.

The Belleville cage coach received what he called "the best team effort from one of my teams since taking over this job" as the Tigers jolted traditionally powerful Ypsilanti 61-44 in the 1972-73 basketball opener.

Gates, who is entering his fifth year at Belleville, said, "We got the job done defensively, and we did it with a team effort that was the best I've seen here."

It was the first time Belleville had beaten Ypsi on the court in recent years.

With Shorty Williams starting off his senior season with 27 points, Belleville moved from a 29-22 halftime edge to a 13-point third quarter (46-33) advantage and was never seriously threatened as Gates managed to use all 12 of his players.

Williams came up with six of the Belleville's 10 first quarter points while Ypsilanti sacked eight, then the 5-8 Tiger guard chalked up 12 of his team's 19 points in the second quarter to help widen the gap. Ypsi's Gary Hall, who dropped in six points in the second period, kept the Braves in the game.

However, the speedy Tigers managed to fast-break past the startled Braves in the third quarter as 6-6 Al Cicotte and Terry Pate picked up the scoring tempo with eight and five points, respectively. The Braves had their problems trying to penetrate Belleville's 2-1-2 defense, which caused the visitors trouble all night. They missed shots from outside the zone and Pate, who had 14 rebounds, and Cicotte, with 11, helped give the host control of the boards.

Williams, who made 11 field goals and five from the charity stripe, had the game's high of 27. The only other Tiger cager to hit in double figures was Cicotte, who chipped in 13.

Ypsilanti had only one player in two figures, Larry Powell, the All-State griddier, launched his final cage season with 14.

Belleville made 18 turnovers and that was one reason why it managed to take the opening game, according to the Tiger mentor.

"Though both teams were jittery in the first quarter," said Gates, "we managed to make a few number of turnovers which definitely helped us. It wasn't bad for our first game."

Belleville also outrebounded its rival 38-31. The Tigers sank 13 of 21 at the free throw line as compared to the Braves 10 of 17.

Belleville won't be able to rest on its laurels for it will host Redford Union Friday night. R.U. is one of three teams picked to win the Suburban 8 Conference title. The defending champ started the season with a victory over Southfield.

"We're going to have to play the same type of game we did against Ypsilanti in order to win," said Gates. "Redford Union has good size and is a physical-type ball club. But we have the speed that can stop them."

DRIVING BY—Belleville's Terry Pate (42) breezes past a Ypsilanti guard in Friday's opener in which the local cagers claimed a 61-44 nonleague decision over the Braves. Pate helped the Tiger cause with nine points and also led the rebounders with 14. Coach Al Gates' quintet will launch the 1972 Suburban 8 Conference campaign Friday night, hosting defending champ, Redford Union.

Some key notes about swimming

By TOM MOORADIAN

The lean and inexperienced prep swim teams got a welcomed boost this year from the Michigan High School Athletic Association.

But so did the perennial powerhouses, according to many of the area coaches who disagree upon what the new MHSAA rule "to allow swimmers to compete in three events, one of which must be a relay" will do to coaches' strategies.

"I feel the rule will give most of us a chance to use that experienced swimmer in the weak spots, therefore, giving the team some help," said Dave Tavidian, Livonia Churchill's veteran coach. "We needed something like this."

However, Belleville Coach Sam Vicchy doesn't see it that way. "It will aid the lean teams, of course, but it also will give the stronger teams as much of a chance to use their better kids in the crucial events," said Vicchy.

"I think it's a good rule because it will give more kids an opportunity to swim whether they are on strong or weak teams," he said.

Vicchy also pointed out that the new rule which abolished the 8-4 scoring system in dual meet relay events also is a key rule. In fact, he will have to "readjust to the new rule". The new rule scores on a 7-0 basis.

"I'm from Pennsylvania and coached in Ohio and we went by the 7-0 point system in relays during dual meets," said Vicchy. "This will definitely change coaches' strategy from now on."

The MHSAA has retained the 8-4-0 scoring ratio for the triangular meets however.

While on the subject of swimming, petite Aleta Rice of Belleville may not have realized it but she made history last week when she finished second in diving against Dearborn Heights Annapolis.

"To my knowledge Miss Rice is the first girl ever in our school's history to win points competing on the varsity boy's swim team here in Belleville," said Vicchy. "We're proud of her."

Miss Rice piled up 211.4 points to finish second to her teammate Ray Leibler who had 234.3 points. A MHSAA ruling allows girls to compete against boys in non-contact sports when the school doesn't have a girls' team in the sport.

Belleville won the nonleague dual meet 54-41.

And Jerry Pawloski informed us yesterday that he is busy setting the stage for the annual Western Wayne Sim & Dive Invitational, which is sponsored by The Daily Eagle and The Associated Newspapers.

The meet is the basis for our All-Area Swim Team.

Pawloski, who is in his fifth year as the Cherry Hill's head swim coach, will be getting all the information out to the area coaches and their athletic directors as soon as possible.

The date selected for the annual winter swim classic is Saturday, Feb. 17.

The following area teams are invited to compete in the meet: Belleville, Westland John Glenn, Wayne Memorial, Garden City East, Garden City West, Livonia Franklin, Livonia Churchill, Inkster, Dearborn Heights Robichaud, Inkster and, of course, the host, Cherry Hill.

So if you have any comments, speak up or forever hold your peace.

Rice makes history

Petite Belleville High diver Aleta Rice made history last week as the Tigers carved out a 54-41 dual meet swim victory over nonleague rival Dearborn Heights Annapolis in the opening contest of the 1972-73 season.

Miss Rice finished second in the diving competition and that was the first time any girl chalked up points on a boy's varsity swim team at Belleville High.

She finished second to teammate Ray Leibler, who compiled a total of 234.3 in winning one of the seven events that Belleville tucked away. Miss Rice accumulated 211.4 points for her efforts.

Coach Sam Vicchy had a pair of double winners. Scott Stone captured first in the 50-yard freestyle with a 24.6, then came back to win the 100-yard freestyle in 56 seconds even.

Jeff Liedel was the top performer in the 200 and 400 yard freestyle events, covering the 200 in 1:57.7 and the 400-yards in 4:17.9. Here are the results of the meet: Belleville 54, Annapolis 41.

BELLEVILLE'S 'BIG' MAN — His teammates call him "Shorty" Williams (22) but Ypsilanti saw him as its biggest threat Friday night for the 5-8 senior guard drilled in 27 points to lead Belleville to an impressive 61-44 victory over the Braves. It was the first time Al Gates' charges ever posted a victory over the traditionally strong Ypsilanti team.

we will be able to stay with any team that is our size." The Chiefs biggest man is Gary Whitehouse, who is 6-2½.

Herman said he was happy to see that his team played as one unit against Flat Rock, and that we will win our share of games if we continue to do so.

Andy Herman had his problems before Flat Rock invaded the New Boston Huron High School Friday night.

And after the traditionally strong Rocks pelted the Chiefs 85-47 behind the 30-point performance of 6-6 pivotman Kevin Creasman, the Huron mentor realizes that he will have a lot of problems during the season.

Herman lost two of his potential starters - All-State griddier Jamie Hinojosa and Mario Gracia to wrestling, while his best shot, Butch Sumenick is out because of a foot injury.

"We don't have the height to compete against those teams that do," said Herman, "but Creasman, who scored almost all at will from his lower post position, dumped in eight points in the first quarter, then went on to hit 10 of 11 at the free throw line to finish with the game's high of 30 points. Teammate Mark Steffen was also in double figures with 17.

Huron stayed with its visitors for the initial quarter as Dana Kemp provided the Chiefs with four points in a 18-12 first period battle. But Flat Rock came back to outscore the Chiefs 25-14 to take a commanding 43-26 halftime lead. They went on to outscore their rivals 25-8 in the third quarter and 17-13 in the final frame.

Romulus honors grid team

The Romulus High School football team was honored at a banquet at the St. Aloysius School Hall Thursday night. The banquet was sponsored by the Romulus Kiwanis Club. Four of the team's outstanding players received special honors at the banquet.

Virgil Smith, the Eagles' quarterback, was named the team's Most Valuable Player. Running back Jerry McWhorter was named the Most Valuable Back, linebacker-guard Darryl Gooden was named the Most Valuable Lineman, and end Horace Person was named the Most Improved Player.

All four of the players are seniors who played major roles in helping the Eagles to a 5-3-1 record in 1972. This was the first winning season for Romulus in 11 years.

The most valuable player awards were voted on by the team's players while Coach Bill Hardy and his assistants selected the most improved player.

All four honored players were awarded trophies.

One of the speakers at the banquet was Larry Fowler, the head coach at Anchor Bay High School.

"I'm very impressed with the pride shown by this Romulus team," said Fowler. "They've come a long way and I expect them to continue winning."

Hardy, who was serving his first season as the Eagles' head coach, also pointed out the pride of his players.

"This team had good spirit and a serious attitude and I'm sure this had a lot to do with making them a winner," said the Romulus coach. "The players who won the awards are all graduating, but I'm sure their efforts will serve as an inspiration for the players who are coming back next year."

CONGRATULATIONS — Romulus' top gridders were honored recently at the high school's annual banquet and first year Coach Bill Hardy offered his congratulations to

District cage sites set

The Michigan High School Athletic Association used a brand new deck of cards to determine who'll go where for the district basketball tournaments. Area teams will find the shuffle interesting.

Garden City East and West, usually pitted in the district tournament at Livonia Franklin, will be among the six teams that will compete for the Class A title at Belleville High School.

The tournament will begin March 5. East and West will be joined by Cherry Hill, Wayne Memorial, Westland John Glenn and the host, Belleville. The winner of that district will remain at Belleville to battle for the regional championship.

In other districts, Franklin will host Dearborn Heights Crestwood, Detroit Bishop Borgess, Detroit Cady, Detroit Redford and Detroit Thurston for the title.

Meanwhile, Romulus, which won a district title last year but lost in the regional finals to Allen Park, will find the Parkers in their district. Coach Dave Court's Eagles also will have to get past Dearborn Heights Annapolis, Taylor Kennedy and Taylor Center in order to survive the district exam.

Churchill has also been designated as a district tournament host. That's a first for the Livonia high school.

Gathered there will be Detroit Redford Union, Livonia Bentley, Livonia Stevenson, Plymouth-Salem and Churchill.

Meanwhile, the Class B teams in the area are due for a surprise. Because of the recent reclassification of the schools, Inkster and Dearborn Heights Robichaud find themselves as "B" schools and they'll be heading for River Rouge.

Rouge, the defending Class B state champ, will play host to its former arch-rival, Inkster, as well as Robichaud. Also in that district are Ecorse, Riverview and Southgate Aquinas.

And that district could easily produce the next Class B state champ.

The area's only other "B" school, New Boston Huron, will travel to Saline High School where Dexter, Milan, Saline, Ypsilanti-Lincoln and Ypsilanti Willow Run will compete for the championship.

March may be three months away, but you can bet that area coaches will be thinking about the districts, now that they know who is there.

The determination of locations and assignments of classes and teams to each tournament were made by the Basketball Tournament Locations Committee in the Upper and Lower Peninsulas.

The regionals are set for March 13-17, while the quarter-finals are slated for Thursday, March 22 in several centers throughout the state. The semis will be played on Saturday, March 24.

The state finals in all classes will be at Ann Arbor, University of Michigan, on Saturday, March 31.

Tigers win debut

A 42-year-old Romulus man charged with the first-degree murder of his wife will face trial in Wayne County Circuit Court Dec. 12.

Luke Hancock, 6566 Washington, is being held without bond in the Wayne County Jail. According to Wayne County Sheriff deputies, Hancock fatally wounded his wife Cleo with a shotgun blast Oct. 14.

The shooting was apparently the result of a long-standing family argument.

Deputies found Mrs. Hancock at the home of a neighbor, where she apparently fled after being wounded.

Mrs. Hancock was pronounced dead at the scene.

She was wounded in the neck area. Luke Hancock was arrested a short time later at his home and a .20-gauge shotgun was taken into custody.

Plans set

The Huron Township Goodfellows Association met last night to discuss plans for this year's Goodfellows newspaper sale.

Semi-truck kills U.S. Treasury agent

An Indiana man was killed Friday afternoon when a semi-truck owned by Gateway Transit of Romulus jack-knifed on slippery I-94 during a snow-storm and struck the man as he stood beside his auto, according to sheriff deputies.

Washtenaw County deputies identified the man as 25-year-old Craig Carney of Muncie, Ind. Deputies said Carney may have been on U.S. Treasury Agent on department business. Several pieces of high-powered radio equipment were found in his automobile.

Deputies have been unable to determine why he was standing beside his auto which was parked along side the slippery roadway.

The semi-truck, driven by Carrol Anderson, 25, of Detroit, jack-knifed while trying to avoid another semi-truck which had also jack-knifed ahead of it, deputies said.

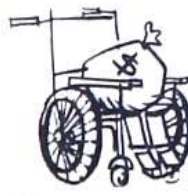

Anderson was not held by deputies following questioning and a sheriff department spokesman said no charges would be brought in the case. The accident occurred near the Willow Run exit on I-94, northwest of Belleville. The fatal accident and several other minor accidents caused by the poor road conditions led police to close the expressway shortly after 3 p.m. Traffic heading west was rerouted near the Metropolitan Airport exits on Middlebelt and Merriman Roads. Traffic headed east was halted near Ypsilanti.

Santa arrives by helicopter

Belleville welcomes Santa Claus in parade

The annual Belleville Christmas parade which was highlighted by the official arrival of Santa Claus Saturday was a "beautiful and tremendous success," said John Barber, Christmas program chairman.

The opening of the Christmas season in the Belleville area, which is signified by the annual Christmas parade and Santa's arrival by helicopter at 1 p.m. Saturday was "the biggest ever in participation of parade entries and spectators," Barber added.

The annual Christmas parade and festivities honoring Santa was sponsored by the Belleville Area Chamber of Commerce.

On hand to welcome Santa when he alighted from his helicopter on the football field at the Belleville Senior High School were city and township officials as well as large number of parents and children.

Immediately upon his arrival, Santa joined the Christmas parade which started at the high school. The parade with more than 45 entries proceeded east on W. Columbia Avenue to Main Street, then down Main Street to Santa's temporary residence, located at Van Buren Township Fire Hall on Roys Street, just west of Main Street.

At the fire hall, Mayor Royce E. Smith of Belleville and G. Elton Gollwitzer, Van Buren Township supervisor, presented Santa with the keys to Belleville and Van Buren township.

Santa Claus this year is Harold "Buss" Roberts of Belleville, who had gifts of candy and color books for the children who visited him.

FAST SERVICE — The Michigan Community Blood Center's new bloodmobile can handle two donors every 15 minutes. The self-contained vehicle is the only one of its type in Michigan and one of less than a dozen in the U.S. The spacious interior includes, besides the drawing area (above), a donor interviewing, testing and waiting area.

Blood center on wheels makes Metro area stops

A fully-equipped blood donor center on wheels — that's what the Michigan Community Blood Center (MCBC) now has in operation.

The 27½-foot-long vehicle, the only one of its kind in Michigan and one of less than a dozen in the country, is currently in service at various locations in the metropolitan Detroit area. It soon will be employed in blood donor drives throughout Michigan, said Uri Katz, managing director of the non-profit organization.

Its 6,000-kilowatt generator powers all blood drawing apparatus, dual air conditioning and heating systems, refrigeration, lights and intercom.

"In our planning for an all-volunteer blood donor program, we've become convinced that this type of unit is the coming thing. It is both efficient and economical," Katz stated. "The bloodmobile makes it possible for MCBC to go where the people are — shopping centers, fairs, sporting events, at work. We don't have to wait for people to come to the blood centers."

BLOODMOBILE — This 27½-foot long bloodmobile, only one of its kind in Michigan, has been put into service in the metropolitan Detroit area. It soon will be employed in other cities around the state. The vehicle is staffed by two nurses and is a self-contained blood center on wheels.

County nixes hike in sewage rates

For the second time, a committee of the Wayne County Board of Commissioners has declined to approve a requested sewage treatment rate increase that would raise household water bills in eight Downriver communities.

The Public Works Committee, meeting Nov. 30, demanded more information from the county road commission to justify the proposed rate increase. The road commission operates sewage treatment plants at Flat Rock, Rockwood and Trenton.

The road commission has proposed a rate increase from the present $80 per million gallons to $230 per million gallons of wastewater treated at the three plants to offset annual operating losses.

If enacted as proposed, the increase would add 30 cents per person per month — about $1.20 per month for a family of four — to water bills in the communities of Gibraltar, Woodhaven, Brownstown, Rockwood, South Rockwood, Flat Rock, Huron Township and New Boston.

The rate increases were proposed last August, to be effective Oct. 1.

The commissioners' public works committee, serving as a public board of review, heard representatives of the communities object to the proposed increase at a meeting Sept. 14. The committee asked the road commission to supply more data to justify an increase.

The road commission submitted a statement of operations for the three plants. The statement showed operating losses of $138,664 for 1971, $226,271 for 1972 and a projected loss of $210,000 for 1973.

However, spokesmen for the affected communities charged at the Nov. 30 meeting that the statement did not provide enough detailed information on operating costs and revenues.

The committee requested more detail and indefinitely postponed further consideration while awaiting the information.

Members of the Public Works Committee are Thomas P. O'Rourke (D-Detroit), Chairman; John Lesinski (D-Dearborn), vice-chairman; James DeSana (D-Wyandotte), Huey A. Ferguson (D-Detroit), James R. McCartney (D-Westland) and Michael J. Novak (D-Detroit).

Winter registration begins at WCCC

Registration for the winter term at Wayne County Community College (WCCC) begins Monday, Dec. 11 at nine regional locations throughout Wayne County.

This will be the first time the college has decentralized the registration process using the regionalized system and emphasizing computer procedures. Under the plan, students will go to one of nine regional instructional centers to register for courses offered at nearby centers.

"By implementing this new system of registration, we plan to achieve a more efficient and useful registration process and ease record-keeping for the benefit of our students," said WCCC President, Dr. Reginald Wilson.

At the beginning of the fall term, the college enrolled some 13,000 students, a 10 per cent increase in enrollment over September, 1971. WCCC maintains its place as the third largest community college in the state and probably the fastest growing college in that group.

The college's open door policy allows anyone to enroll who is 18 years old or over, or who has a high school diploma or GED certificate if under 18. WCCC offers a variety of one and two-year technical and vocational programs which grant certificates, in addition to liberal arts programs leading to an associate degree. Most credits earned at WCCC are transferable to four-year institutions.

Courses are offered at 27 instructional centers throughout Wayne County. Tuition is $10 per credit hour or an average of $30 per course. Formal application is not required except for the two-year nursing program.

Students may register at the following locations from Dec.

11-15, Dec. 18-20, Jan. 3-5 and Jan. 8 and 9, 1973.

Western Wayne County Region: Milton Middle School, 1771 Henry Ruff Rd., Inkster, 12 noon-10 p.m., for classes at John Glenn High School, Wayne; Riverside High School, N. Dearborn Heights; Romulus High School, Romulus; Milton Middle School, Inkster.

Downriver Region: Patrick Center, 140 Superior, Wyandotte, 12 p.m. - 10 p.m. for classes at Kennedy High School, Taylor; Ecorse High School, Ecorse; Riverview High School, Riverview; Huron High School, New Boston; St. Patrick's School, Wyandotte.

Policemen commended for saving boy's life

The alert and quick action by two Van Buren Township police officers in the rescue of a 1½-year-old boy unconscious from an epileptic attack was disclosed in a letter of commendation and appreciation received by the Van Buren Township Board of Trustees.

The young boy rescued by the two officers is Edward Gatzka, son of Mr. and Mrs. Roger Gatzka of 41838 McBride St., Belleville, and grandson of the writer of the letter, Claude Berard of 32148 Annapolis Ave., Wayne.

The communication to the township board disclosed that Edward became unconscious at his home for reasons then unknown. The parents summoned the police, which had a car in the immediate area.

Within minutes Police Sgt. Leonard Bourdeau and Patrolman Joseph Mathews began administering emergency treatment including resuscitation. On the way to the Wayne County General Hospital, the officers administered oxygen to the boy.

The boy remained in the hospital for two days before being released on an outpatient basis. He is still under treatment.

Berard reported that his grandson's unconscious condition was due to an epileptic attack.

Even if Susan forgets.

Susan's been married only a few months, but thanks to the modern features on her new Gas range, every meal has been a success. The Burner-with-a-Brain gives her precisely controlled temperatures... eliminating the worry of boil-overs and scorched food. And since the Burner-with-a-Brain knows when to adjust itself, Susan saves Gas and money, too.

So, if you're thinking of replacing your present range, visit your Gas appliance dealer or a Michigan Consolidated Gas Company showroom and see the new, efficient Gas ranges that operate for only one-third the cost of electric stoves. But, whether you're replacing your range or not, here are some tips to help you save fuel:

1. Cover saucepans for faster cooking.
2. Use the Burner-with-a-Brain as often as possible.
3. Preheat oven only as long as indicated in instruction booklet.

Women's Commission organized

'Other people have clout, why not women?'

By DON HOENSCHELL
Enterprise-Roman
Lansing Bureau

Michigan's newly-energized Women's Commission is deadly serious about equality in a social order dominated since creation by men. It has a $50,000 budget and an instinct for the jugular, political clout.

The first thrust is moving in several directions under the commission's new $18,604 executive secretary, Mrs. Patricia C. Silea.

She is setting up a directory of women's groups in the state to find out the dimensions of the commission's constituency. The 1970 census shows more women than men in Michigan.

"This is political clout," she said. "Other people have it. Why not the women's groups. We can work inside the system just like the others."

"We're not the bra-burning type, but even with 51 per cent of the population, people will see us as we see ourselves. If we consider ourselves to be a minority, we'll be given the back seat."

The 15-member commission is headed by former Sen. N. Lorraine Beebe (R-Dearborn), an activist who also heads up the Michigan Consumers Council.

The commission will set the broad guidelines of policy and Mrs. Silea, a Katherine Gibbs graduate with a master's degree in business education, is putting it all together.

One of her first findings was that Michigan has 1,010 laws on the books making a distinction between men and women and 1,100 others that use the male reference as a generic term.

These will all be researched for the bias that even men admit has crept into the statutes over the years.

This will be one way of preparing for the day when the 38th state legislature ratifies the federal Equal Rights Amendment. Michigan was No. 18 to ratify among the 22 who now have approved it.

"Part of the commission's job — my job, really — will be to lobby for women's bills," said Mrs. Silea.

It is a fact of life that without a strong organization with political power or economic pressure it is difficult to get the ear of legislators or any other public official.

But when Mrs. Beebe or Mrs. Silea can represent 51 per cent of the people in the state, their stature as lobbyists will zoom overnight.

From the start, in 1968, the commission has been activist but in a way that has been short of the all-out women's liberation movement.

Some improvements have been made in the status of women in state employment and Gov. William G. Milliken has built pressure for more and higher-level jobs for them.

The commission will add to its earlier legislative program which called for education for pregnant students, a department of family relations, a women's bureau in the department of labor and vocational counseling for women.

In praising the commission's program, Milliken said:

"I believe women should be given a voice in the development of our economy and the policy-making activities of our state and national government."

It's plain from the approach being taken by the commission that if the women aren't given a voice, they'll take it!

County to remove parks' dead trees

An outlay of $75,000 for removal of dead and dying trees from the county park system has received preliminary approval by the Wayne County Board of Commissioners.

Meeting as the Ways and Means Committee Nov. 30, the commissioners tentatively authorized a transfer of funds within the budget of the Parks Department of the County Road Commission.

Final approval, expected tomorrow, will schedule for removal some 2,000 trees, mainly diseased elms, which could constitute a public hazard throughout the park system's 4,400 acres.

The $75,000 would be used to hire outside services rather than to increase the park system work force, which is now insufficient to complete the work before May, 1973, as planned.

Upon final approval, work to remove the trees would begin immediately, according to Edward E. Mika, superintendent of the Parks Department. "It is essential that we begin and complete the work while the ground is frozen hard," he said.

The project must be completed before warm weather stimulates heavy traffic, he said.

Postmasters issue mailing reminder

Postmasters R. J. O'Neil of Belleville and Wilfred J. Laginess of Romulus jointly issued a reminder about Christmas mailing deadlines.

Out of town parcels should be mailed as soon as possible. Local parcels and out of town Christmas cards should be mailed by Dec. 10. Local cards and letters should be mailed by Dec. 15.

Starting Friday and extending through Friday, Dec. 22, service windows will remain open for the sale of stamps and acceptance of parcel post as long as necessary to serve customers who are in the post office lobby, but not later than 6 p.m.

The stamp and parcel post windows will be open on Saturday and on Saturday, Dec. 16 from 8:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m., or as long as necessary to serve patrons who are in the lobby at closing time.

"The key to efficient Christmas mailing," O'Neil said, "is to prepare mailings carefully and mail them early. Clear addressing with zip codes, proper packing and early depositing can prevent most problems and provide the greatest value for money spent for postage."

Students prepare Christmas plays

Two plays are included in the Christmas spectacular now in rehearsal at Mt. Pleasant Elementary School.

Presentations are scheduled for Dec. 7 at Romulus High School auditorium and for Dec. 8 in the multi-purpose room at Mt. Pleasant School.

The sixth graders, taught by Mrs. Diana Golka and Mrs. Donna Allen, will present "Santa Calls A Conference" and "S.O.S. from Santa."

The Dec. 7 program at the high school will start at 7 p.m. The performance at Mt. Pleasant will be held for students unable to get to the high school program.

Telephone device aids in teaching

A Michigan Bell Telephone Co. Teleraiser is being used at South Junior High School in Belleville to assist students in learning French.

The device, which is on loan for a two-week period, is used to simulate actual phone conversations. It consists of two telephones hooked up to a control box which is operated by the teacher.

Mrs. Marlene Manseau, English and French teacher, who is using the teleraiser, presses buttons which give off dial tones, rings and even busy signals. She reports that two students can talk to each other by the way of the phones and the whole conversation can be heard through a special speaker which allows the class to listen.

"The whole purpose of the teleraiser is to allow the students to hear each other plainly, so they can work on pronunciation of the language. Also they make up dialogues to give over the phone," said Mrs. Manseau.

The students grade each other on how well their presentations come across the phone, she said.

...and Spotlights

Do you feel out of sorts and cannot figure out why? We have just the prescription for you! Maybe you need a change of pace. The Belleville Community Players offer you a prescription that really works and is fun to take.

Auditions for "The Gazebo," a mystery-comedy are set for 8 p.m. this Monday, Thursday and Friday at the Belleville High School Auditorium. There are parts available for nine men and three women.

Actual rehearsing will not start until after the first of the year. There is also a need for help backstage on construction, make-up costumes, publicity, props, lighting and sound.

Working in the theater is a bit of work, but it is one of the most rewarding. So come on down any one of the audition nights. Have some coffee, meet old and new friends and out your talent to work.

If you are interested in a part or working backstage but cannot attend any of the three nights, call the producers at 697-0343, or try 697-7843.
